

DE BONO HAS BEEN RETIRED FROM AFRICA

Il Duce Replaces Veteran High Commander in Ethiopian War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS War Summary

Rome—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of staff, was named commander-in-chief of Italian forces in East Africa today, replacing Gen. Emilio De Bono.

With the Italian army at Makale, Ethiopia—the Italian intelligence section reported that Emperor Haile Selassie had instructed his army to hold Alaji at all costs. The Italians prepared to move forward. Addis Ababa—Ras Nasibu took command of the Ethiopian forces on the southern front under orders to employ only defensive tactics for the next month.

Diredawa, Ethiopia—Reinforcements of thousands of Ethiopians to defend Harar and Jijiga were reported by European refugees.

Paris—Representatives of 3,000,000 war veterans and a group of Lyon business men urged Premier Laval to work for postponement of sanctions against Italy.

London—A British ambulance unit left for active service in Ethiopia. British officials said Secretary of State Hull's warning to United States exports was a valuable help to peace.

Rome, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general staff, was named Italian High Commissioner for East Africa today, replacing Gen. Emilio in a general shake-up.

General de Bono, who has been acting as commander-in-chief for the Fascist forces in their invasion of Ethiopia, will return to Italy to be created a marshal of the highest military rank.

The white-bearded de Bono is one of Mussolini's old friends, one of four men who led the famous Fascist march on Rome.

General Guzzoni, a corps commander in Italy, was named vice governor for Italy's East African colony of Eritrea.

General Badoglio recently went to the East African front and made a personal report to Premier Mussolini on conditions there and the general plan of campaign in Ethiopia.

He returned only a week ago, and as a result of his observations, it was disclosed, Mussolini made the changes in his high command.

Il Duce has expressed satisfaction with the Ethiopian campaign.

Although no explanation was given officially for the shakeup, it was suggested in informed quarters that General de Bono, who is 69 years old and spent a year of tremendous labor in organizing the whole campaign, is retiring with honor, leaving continuation of the campaign and civil organization to younger men.

In his report today to Rome, General de Bono said:

"The Danakil column, together with detachments of the first army corps, continues action intended to gain complete control of the territory between Abbi and Dessi (in the Danakil desert).

"The native army corps is pursuing its work of cleaning up in the Gheralea district.

"The second army corps has completed the occupation of the Tzembela region, gaining possession of the fords across the Takkeze river.

"The chiefs and notables of Tzembela presented themselves to our military authorities to make their acts of submission.

"Italian airplanes have bombarded the enemy groups in the zones from Bula down to south of Antalo."

GERMAN PROTEST

Berlin, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The German government, informed by Great Britain that German goods exported to England after Nov. 18 must be accompanied by certificates of origin, protested today that this requirement contravenes the Anglo-German trade agreement.

The date fixed by Great Britain is that upon which economic and financial sanctions, as instituted by the League of Nations, go into effect against Italy. Great Britain is making certain that imports into Italy and enter England by way of the League countries.

The official German communiqué announcing the protest declared:

"In the opinion of German official quarters, the demand for certificates of origin for German goods is in this case not in harmony with certain provisions of the German-British trade agreement."

Another point of irritation was considered by observers to be the report that Reichsbank officials

SLAIN DOCTOR BELIEVED NEXT GERMAN ENVOY

Tried To Sever His Relations With Murderers

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The New York Daily News said today in a copyrighted article that Dr. Fritz Gebhardt's knowledge that Adolf Hitler was about to appoint him German Ambassador to the United States induced him to break relations with pretty Vera Stretz, who is charged with murdering him.

The Daily News quoted an unnamed friend of the slain German industrialist as disclosing that Dr. Gebhardt told Miss Stretz: "This can't go on. I can't go into public life and carry you along."

Dr. Gebhardt's body, pierced by four bullets and clad only in a nightshirt, was found early Tuesday morning in his swanky east side apartment.

Was Flyer

A member of Baron von Richthofen's "flying circus," his funeral was held yesterday attended by old war comrades, as a county grand jury indicted his blonde sweetheart for first degree murder.

According to the Daily News, Gebhardt told his friend, "I will pay her (Miss Stretz) any amount of money, but she must leave me. I am bringing my wife and children over in a month or two, and no breath of scandal must attach to me."

Judge FitzHenry Said To Be in Very Serious State After a Stroke

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Physicians attending Judge Louis FitzHenry reported today his condition was serious following a paralytic stroke. Judge FitzHenry, former federal district judge and now on the bench of the United States circuit court of appeals, has been ill since last June. He is 65 years old.

BALDWIN NOW MUST REBUILD HIS CABINET

Realignment Necessary Because of Defeat of MacDonald

London, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin undertook the task of rebuilding his cabinet today, secure in the knowledge that he would be backed by a heavy government majority in the house of commons.

In the rural peace of his official residence at Chequers, he had a number of weighty problems to solve. Among them was a means of countering the sensational defeat of his lieutenant, former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

With the failure in Thursday's general election of both MacDonald—Ramsay, the father, Lord President of the Council, and Malcolm, the son, Colonial Secretary—J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, remained the only successful Labor member of the old cabinet.

Veteran observers said Baldwin must change this situation to maintain the national aspect of the government.

Political spokesmen commented freely that Ramsay MacDonald, defeated for re-election to Commons in his labor constituency of Seaham and describing himself as a "completely done-in old man," hoped to retire from politics and devote his time to writing.

If the former prime minister was determined on this course, informed sources said, Malcolm might be asked to find a safe Nationalist Labor seat in parliament and join the new cabinet.

The general view seemed to be that the re-shuffled cabinet would number 20 instead of 22.

May Change Eden

Anthony Eden's post as minister without portfolio for League of Nations affairs might be one of those abolished, leaving Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare in sole charge of foreign affairs.

Some sources expressed belief Eden would go to the dominions ministry. Others suggested he might be the next war secretary, replacing Viscount Halifax, who was believed to be eager to retire.

In any case, authoritative sources said the government would remain firm in its foreign policy, including solid support of league sanctions against Italy and efforts to halt the Fascist warfare on Ethiopia.

The latest returns gave the government a majority of 241 in Commons, with 13 seats to be declared. Nationalist abstentionist gains from the Irish Nationalists in the two-member constituency of Farnham and Tyrone in northern Ireland reduced the government majority from its earlier figure of 243.

Parliament meets again Nov. 26, with the government majority smaller than its previous 412, but stronger than many commentators had predicted.

T. D. Swain Purchased The Millway Hatchery

Thurle D. Swain of this city has purchased the Millway Hatchery and feed store on East First street, of which he has been resident manager for the past two seasons. Mr. Swain who since coming to Dixon two years ago to assume the management of the Millway Hatchery and feed store, has become recognized as one of Dixon's foremost sportsmen, was associated with the Millway system for a period of ten years. Prior to his being assigned to the Dixon plant, he was stationed at McNabb, Ill., for a period of seven years. He will continue the operation of the business under the same principals as the former owners after making some slight changes designed to provide better service to the patrons.

Many Stocks Hit New Four Year High On New York Market

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Steels and specialties were the bullish favorites in today's stock market, while profit taking stemmed the advance in a few other sections of the list.

Many new four-year highs were established during the brief session and realizing sales failed to shake the majority of the leaders. The activity was the best for a Saturday since the spring of 1934. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,450,000 shares.

MANHATTAN REOPENS

The Manhattan restaurant, which has been closed for the past ten days, will reopen Monday morning at 11 o'clock, the owner, George Papadakis announced. The interior has been redecorated and many improvements made during the closed period.

HOPKINS PLANS 500,000 JOBS A WEEK PROGRAM

Employment Remains 1,490,661 Short of Objective

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Five hundred thousand jobs a week was the task facing Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, today to reach his goal of having 3,500,000 relief recipients at work by December 1.

The latest figures showed 290,194 were given employment in the week ended November 9. This indicated to some officials that Hopkins would not be entirely successful unless added speed was shown in getting projects under way.

At the last count 2,009,339 persons were at work—some 1,490,667 short of the administration's objective.

Nevertheless, Hopkins is proceeding with his intention of shutting off all direct federal relief to states by December 1 and to date has cut off 26 states from the so-called "dole."

Some encouragement in the employment drive was found in the fact that Comptroller General J. R. McCarl yesterday released $175,000,000 of the last $200,000,000 set aside for Public Works Administration projects under Secretary Ickes.

Ickes at once notified state PWA directors to instruct the municipalities receiving these allotments "to proceed without delay."

How many persons can be given jobs quickly on this type of work remains to be seen. To date 2,259 have been employed on both housing and non-federal PWA projects. The deadline for starting these projects is December 15.

One-Tenth Exempted

In an effort to conciliate organized labor, Hopkins yesterday issued an order exempting one-tenth of WPA's workers from the $19 to $94 wage restrictions and authorizing them to be paid prevailing local scales.

Hopkins said the move was prompted by "difficulty in getting from the non-relief rolls the necessary skilled and key personnel for some projects" and by a "desire that all persons in a given occupation on a project shall work under the same wage and hour arrangements."

BORAH ADMITS OBJECTIVE IN MIND FOR 1936

Won't State He's in the Presidential Race As Yet

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) asserted today he had a "definite objective in mind" regarding 1936 but was not ready to say whether he would be a candidate for the presidential nomination.

At his first press conference since returning from the west, the 70-year-old republican independent said that if the elections were held this year "Roosevelt would carry the west."

He added he was unprepared to forecast what might change that situation.

Asked repeatedly if he would allow his name to go on the presidential primary ballots in California and Ohio, pivotal 1936 testing grounds, Borah said: "It is impossible to answer that kind of a question. I've a definite objective in mind and I'm going to conform my tactics to that objective."

"When are you going to announce that objective?" he was asked.

"Whenever I think it is propitious," he replied.

"Asked if he thought former President Hoover was a candidate, the Idahoan said: 'I don't know what is in his mind, but I do know his friends are working for his nomination.'"

"Is Landon (Kansas governor) a candidate?"

"It looks rather suspicious."

Borah refused to name Republican leaders with whom he talked in Illinois and Ohio on his way east.

"Billy" Jones Goes To Chicago Hospital

W. C. Jones, veteran Lee county grocerman, who for a number of years has conducted a grocery store on Depot avenue in Dementown, was taken from his home to the Wesleyan hospital in Chicago yesterday afternoon. Harold Jones, who has been visiting with his partner, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, took him to Chicago by automobile. Mr. Jones has been seriously ill for the past ten days and entered the Chicago hospital for observation. He has been a frequent caller on his hosts of friends throughout Lee county in anticipating his complete recovery.

JUROR RAISES FUROR DURING COURT FRIDAY

Goes on a Hunger Strike, Tries to Escape

Ansell Pettinger, Willow Creek township farmer, who is having his first experience as a juror, held up proceedings in the circuit court yesterday afternoon in the trial of a damage suit and narrowly escaped being held in contempt of court by Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport. In addition to these experiences, Pettinger went on a hunger strike which started at 4:30 Friday morning and continued until 6 last evening. He also set a new speed record between his home and the Lee county court house.

Pettinger was one of the jurors selected to try the case brought by Harry Roe, administrator of the estate of Charles Ankeny against Herman Albers. About 11 o'clock yesterday, the court ordered a recess, the jury of 12 retiring from the court room. The remainder of the panel was excused until next Thursday morning by Judge Manus.

Pettinger understood that he was one to be excused and he lost no time in finding his hat and coat and left the court house. About 11:30 the jury was ordered back in the court room to hear opening arguments, and it was then that Attorney Clyde Smith, appearing for the plaintiff in the suit, discovered that one chair in the jury box was empty.

Court attaches started a diligent search of every department of the court house in quest of the absentee and Sheriff Ward Miller learning that Pettinger had no telephone at his home, dispatched a deputy to the home. Pettinger, after leaving the court house, drove north of town to visit a sister and then proceeded to his home, where he was met by the deputy sheriff, who ordered him to waste no time in returning to the court house.

The order was obeyed and Pettinger arrived at 1:15. Judge Manus admonished the innocent juror of the liability of being held in contempt of court and impressed upon his mind the importance of his duty, but after hearing the juror's explanation of a misunderstanding, ordered him back to his position in the jury box and the trial proceeded. It was the first instance of this kind ever to occur in the Lee county circuit court and attorneys could not recall having heard of a similar instance.

The case went to the jury shortly before 6 o'clock last night and they were still locked up at noon today, having failed to reach a verdict.

Gets Material Here For A Lincoln Play

Dan Coughlan former resident of Dixon and student in Lincoln lore, has been spending several days in Dixon visiting with former acquaintances. During his visit here, he spent some time visiting with Ed Vaile and securing valuable information to be used in a new Lincoln play, which he is completing. Mr. Coughlan for a number of years was one of the country's outstanding Shakespearean players and students, but of recent years he has been impersonating the Emancipator in many plays.

He is now completing the writing of a Lincoln play, in which he impersonates the Civil War president in the various stages of his life. In this play he has selected the players and will produce the play in Sterling during the winter months under the sponsorship of the Sterling American Legion post and the public schools.

Philippines To Organize Their Defense Council

Manila, P. I., Nov. 16.—(AP)—President Manuel Quezon took the initial step toward organizing the Philippine government's defense forces today by creating a 15-member national defense council.

The council will advise President Quezon and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on military affairs.

General MacArthur, former United States Army chief of staff, was appointed by President Roosevelt to train Filipino defense forces under the 19-year commonwealth regime which will precede complete independence from America.

Secretary of War George Dern, who represented President Roosevelt at the inauguration of Quezon as first president of the commonwealth, was en route home today aboard the warship Chester.

REFUSE EXTRADITION

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Cook county (Chicago), Ill., officials lost a move today to return Joseph Louzon, penitentiary convict, to Illinois to answer a 21-year-old burglary charge.

"I think he has been punished enough," Governor Eugene Tammidge said in refusing the requisition. The governor was told Louzon escaped from a Cook county prison in 1914 after serving three years on a burglary charge.

The fugitive was found in the federal penitentiary here, where he is serving a term for another offense.

"The east north central states, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, showed a gain of 12 per cent, in the month with that in Illinois ranking the lowest."

"Cash receipts from the sale of principal farm products in the east north central region in September," the department reported, "were 12 per cent greater than in that month a year ago. In September, as in previous months, a substantial gain in income from live-stock items, particularly cattle, hogs and eggs, was large enough to more than offset the decline in income from crops, chiefly a result of the severe reduction in marketings of corn when compared with the unusually heavy marketings of a year ago. x x x"

GOV. HORNER VISITS DIXON FOR CEREMONY

Executive Accompanied by State Officials for Dedication

Several state highway department officials accompanied Governor Henry Horner to Dixon this afternoon for dedication of the new $70,000 highway department building in Dementtown at 2:30 P. M. The governor arrived in Dixon at 1:30 P. M. and was received by Mayor William V. Slothower, Hon. John Devine and other officials.

Those who were here with the governor this afternoon for the occasion are Ernest Lieberman, state highway engineer, Ralph Ferris, architect of the new building, Lynn Smith, business manager of the state highway department, John Casey superintendent of the machinery division of the department. Governor Horner was accompanied by his secretary.

John Devine, speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives, Mayor William V. Slothower were to give brief introductory talks. Other officials also said a few words preceding the governor's address. The Dixon Civic Band will play a short concert preceding the talks.

A fitting climax to the dedicatory ceremonies will be a free public dance in the large new structure tonight at 7:30 P. M. Hundreds are expected to attend the dedicatory exercises and dance.

FEDERALS TO INVESTIGATE GANG DEATHS

Illegal Alcohol Racket Thought Main Cause

Chicago, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The federal government today entered an investigation into three gangland-style deaths on the northwest side in 24 hours.

E. C. Yellowley, chief of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit for this district, announced he had assigned investigators to determine whether an illegal alcohol racket led to the slayings.

Police ascribed the deaths to a revival of pre-repeal trafficking in alcohol.

Two victims slain in a parked automobile yesterday, were Joseph Scalfido, 28, of Milwaukee, and Angelo Kleronomos, 24, of suburban Cicero. The other was Frank Stypukowski, alias Bert (Cowboy) Rogers, 25, of Chicago. The police said all were former convicts.

A fourth man, Frank Shaffer, 34, of Chicago, also was shot yesterday and the authorities believed the attack on him was connected with the deaths of the others. A woman and two men were reported to have wounded Shaffer.

Talked First, Then Shot.

Scalfido and Kleronomos were slain by two men who drove up to their car stopped to talk and suddenly opened fire. The gunmen fled at once. One witness told the police he ran for cover to avoid being hit and that he was unable to give a description of the killers.

In Kleronomos' pocket was found a note addressed to his wife, Frances, expressing affection but saying he couldn't quit the racket, "because it's in my blood and there's a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."

Miss Marie Kolowski, 19, of Chicago, told the authorities she was with Stypukowski when he was shot.

"We was a frien' but I had known him only a few weeks," she said. "We had been eating sandwiches when a car came up and the men put shotguns through the window and killed Frank. I ran away."

A woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Rose Rudy, 25, of Chicago, was in custody in connection with the Shaffer shooting, but the victim was unable to point her out as his assailant.

In suburban Elmhurst, the body of Vincent Cesare, 35, Chicago contractor, was found Thursday. He also was an apparent gang victim.

WOMAN'S DEATH CALLED SUICIDE

Despondency Is Now Believed To Be Cause

Kirkville, Mo., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. A. E. Jones, 46, whose body was found floating in a pond west of the Kirkville city limits, was termed suicide today by a coroner's jury.

The suicide verdict was returned by the jury after Dr. S. F. Freeman testified wounds on the woman's head could have been caused by numerous stones and stumps at one end of the pond.

Early County Coroner Dee Riley had expressed doubt the woman had drowned because little water was in her lungs and the body was floating when it was discovered. Several witnesses testified at the coroner's hearing, however, that they had heard Mrs. Jones recently threaten to end her life.

Members of Mrs. Jones' family had said she was despondent before her disappearance Thursday and had told one relative "good-bye."

She was a daughter of George P. Hawks of Aledo, Ill.

Members of Mrs. Jones' family said a short funeral service would be held here today and that her body would be sent to Aledo for burial tomorrow.

BILLS SIGNED

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Governor Horner today signed three bills appropriating funds for expenses of the special session of the legislature.

The bills provided $15,000 to pay officers of both houses; $50,000 for mileage and incidental expenses of the members; $5,000 for incidental expenses and $37,000 for per diem wages of employees of the Assembly.

LARGE STEEL ORDER

Chicago, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Purchase of $1,600,000 worth of steel materials by the Burlington railroad was announced today by Ralph Budd, president. The orders included more than 20,000 tons of 112-pound rails, 13,600 tons of fastenings, and 5,500 tons of bridge and car steel.

Diredawa, Ethiopia, Nov. 16—(Via Djibouti, French Somaliland)—Refugee European traders from the war zones reported today that thousands of Ethiopian volunteers were hurrying over old caravan trails toward Harar and Jijiga, to face the Italian offensive from the south.

One thousand men a day, fully equipped, were moving through Diredawa, just behind those two vital points, while tribes of fierce desert warriors, armed only with spears, clubs and knives, were reported crossing the frontiers from French and British Somaliland.

About two cars of ammunition daily were arriving in Diredawa by railway, to be carried overland to Harar, 30 miles to the southwest and capital of Harar province.

STAY ON DEFENSIVE

Addis Ababa, Nov. 16—(AP)—Ras Nasibu, assuming personal command on the southern front, was said by an authoritative source today to have direct orders from Emperor Haile Selassie to remain on the defensive against the Italians for at least another month.

Just before leaving his provincial capital of Harar for Jijiga yesterday, this source said, Ras Nasibu telephoned the King of Kings and expressed the opinion the Italians would be so weakened by sickness and lack of supplies that within three months they would be at the mercy of the Ethiopian army.

"If we can resist so long, a small attack from our side will give us victory," Ras Nasibu was quoted.

The Harar governor hastened to Jijiga to take direct charge of the defense of that vital point after authorities there expressed fear that the advance forces of Italy's southern army might soon be within striking distance.

Fitouari Gwangoul, second in command of Harar province, had been wounded in conflict and brought to a Harar hospital, throwing even greater responsibilities upon Ras Nasibu.

Two railroad cars loaded with ammunition arrived in the capital last night, but their ultimate destination was unknown.

The Ethiopians were reported continuing their sporadic raids on the northern front, one raiding party destroying an Italian bridge over the Mareb river, boundary between Ethiopia and Eritrea.

NO RETREAT

With the Italian Army at Makale, Ethiopia, Nov. 16—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has instructed his forces there must be "no retreat" from Amba Alaji. It was reported to the Italian intelligence section today.

Haile Selassie accompanied the message, the report added, with 6,000 rifles to fortify the spirits of his warriors.

Ras Seyoum, former governor of Tigre province, has passed the Gibe river, the information continued, leading his troops to Antalo, which lies midway between this city and Amba Alaji. There he will be joined to Degiag (governor) Desta and his armed followers, including Degiag Ali and Dera.

Other unofficial reports brought here by caravan scouts say the Ethiopian chiefs of Gofja and Jimma provinces have declared themselves in favor of the former Emperor Lij Yassu, son of Menelik, now imprisoned in Ethiopia.

The imprisoned former emperor was deposed in 1916 after starting a movement in favor of the central European powers against the French, British and Italian colonies. He had been in prison near Harar, but recently was reported transferred to a point near the frontier of Kenya for safer keeping.

8 STUDENTS KILLED

Cairo, Nov. 16—(AP)—With six already dead, another student riot broke out in Egypt today, resulting in injuries to eight.

The government stated in an official communique that police and students had clashed at Zagazig and that two students were taken to the hospital when the police opened fire at their legs.

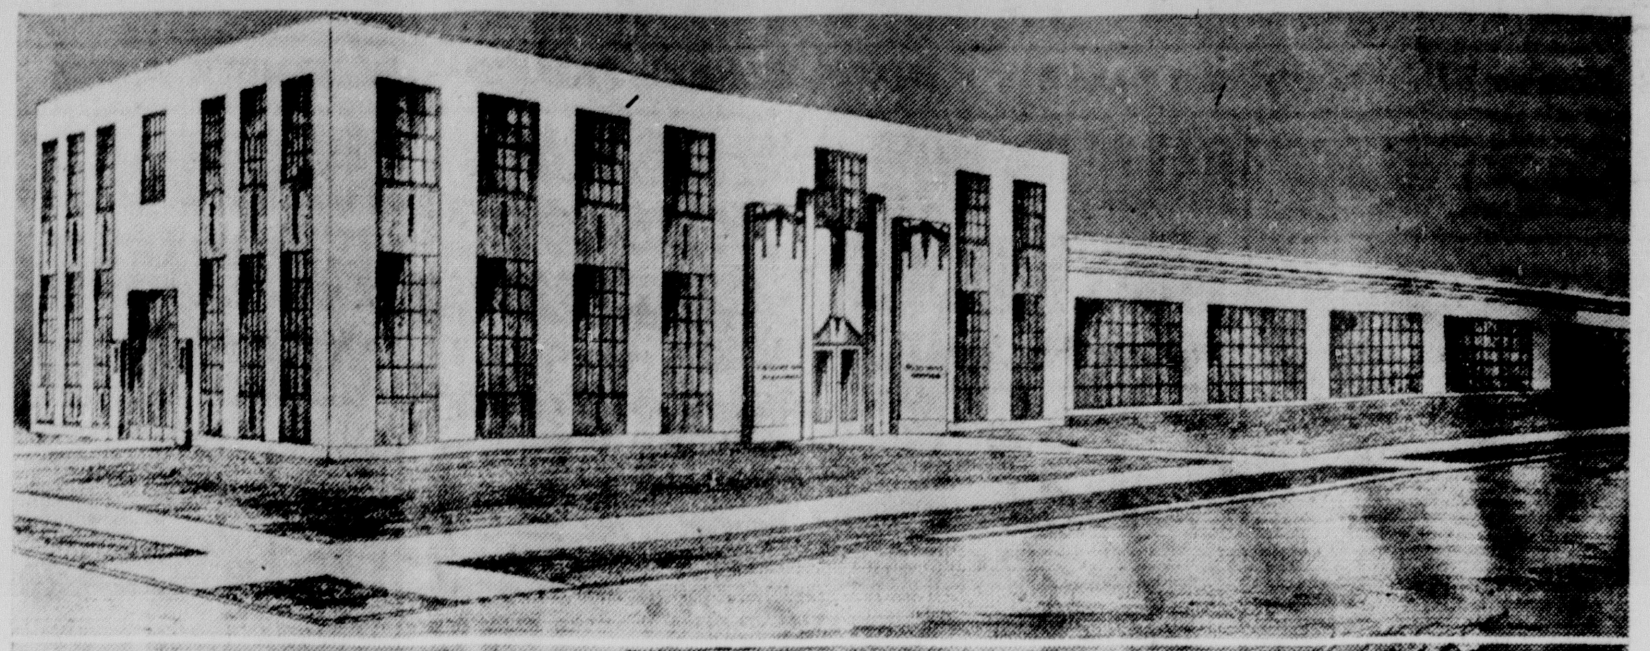

Two of the three students wounded in a clash with police Thursday died today, bringing to six the number of deaths arising from anti-British demonstrations.

The city remained quiet, however, after the two days of rioting with its demands for the resignation of Premier Tewfik Nassim Pasha and an end to British influence in Egyptian affairs.

CAR BURNS UP

A Ford sedan was burned last night about 9:30 on the Lincoln Highway north of Franklin Grove. A salesman, driving west, skidded off the pavement at the S curve north of Franklin Grove and in attempting to right the car, it turned over and caught fire. The driver crawled out of the machine, uninjured and was able to rescue his belongings. The machine was totally destroyed and the wreckage was hauled to a garage in Franklin Grove late last night.

Dixon's New Highway Building Dedicated by Gov. Horner

Dixon's new state highway department building at the corner of Depot avenue and Ninth street in Dementtown was dedicated this afternoon by Governor Henry Horner. The structure is one of the finest in this city and represents a valuable asset to the community. Governor Horner was accompanied here by several highway department officials who assisted in the dedicatory ceremonies.

THIRD PARTY IN SAVANT'S DEATH HINTED TODAY

New York, Nov. 16—(AP)—A "mystery woman" was thrust prominently today into the investigation of the slaying of Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, wealthy German industrialist, in his twenty-first floor apartment early Tuesday.

"I know there is another woman in the picture and I have a pretty good idea who she is," said a friend of Gebhardt who wouldn't permit use of his name.

Miss Vera Stretz, Gebhardt's former secretary, who lived two floors below her employer, is accused of the slaying. Police arrested her on a fire escape of the building a few minutes after Gebhardt had been shot to death.

Detective John Kaiser said he had "a line" on the woman mentioned by Gebhardt's unnamed friend.

The friend said he did not know whether the "other woman" was the one who was reported to have registered with Gebhardt at a hotel the night before he was killed. Nor was he able to say whether she was the woman seen with Gebhardt on his recent voyage from Germany, where his widow and two children live.

District Conference of Lutheran Churches Had Good Attendance

The ninth annual convention of the Northern Illinois Conference Brotherhood of the United Lutheran church was held last evening in St. John's Lutheran church in Sterling.

The meeting opened with a banquet served at 6:30 o'clock in which over 200 men from various cities of northern Illinois participated.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Rudolph B. Schultz, the newly elected president of Carthage College. Rev. Schultz is a graduate of Carthage College in the class of 1927, and is the first graduate of this college to become its president.

The subject of his address was "A Man and His Religion." He held the attention of all those present.

The program of the evening was called a Carthage program, as all numbers on the program were given by former graduates of Carthage College.

The Brotherhood from St. Paul's Lutheran church was well represented, fourteen being present from Dixon.

During the business session the following officers were elected for the year 1936:

President—V. E. Ingwalsen of the Trinity church, Rockford.
Vice President—George Hill from Freeport.

Secretary—William Wickey, Dixon.
Treasurer—Fred Hay, Sterling.

WHO'S BRAVE?
By Joseph Fort Newton

"HOW would you define the thing called courage?" asks a reader, who tells me that more than once he has intended and planned to do a desperate thing, and did not have the nerve to do it.

What my reader had planned to do he does not say, though, from the tone of his letter, one can guess it. Surely it takes more courage to live in face of difficulties than to snuff our lives out.

"Would he define courage as absence of fear, or recklessness amid danger, and describe a courageous man as one who laughs at all sorts of peril, real or imagined? Not at all—very far from it!"

Many a man has received a medal for such conduct, but would anyone describe it as courage? A man who does not know what fear is cannot be called courageous—he may be blind, or merely stupid.

For my part, no one is entitled to be called courageous in any positive sense unless he has a full knowledge of what he is doing, and perhaps a lively imagination about it, showing what is involved.

A British officer who won a high award for valor in the great war told me that he did not know what he was doing when he won the distinction, and was certainly unaware of the dangers he ran.

To me his greatest courage was not in doing what he did, but in saying what he said. He had more valor before me than before the enemy, because he calmly admitted that he was not entitled to the honor.

The best definition of courage known to me is that it is "a right opinion about the things that are to be feared." Not absence of fear or mere daring, but a right opinion about the realities of the case.

Some things definitely deserved to be feared, but a right opinion about them is a saving opinion. It saves us from false, unworthy, invented fears, and helps us to face clear-eyed, the things we ought to fear.

This is real courage—to fear wisely and yet have a right estimate of an attitude toward the things that are actually dangerous, and which we should fear, if we are normal, and gallantly defy.

Psychological Moment Is Punishment Guide

By Olive Roberts Barton

Nothing is so valuable in handling children as taking advantage of the psychological moment, those brief fleeting seconds when the mind is receptive.

It is my firm belief that any child of any age normally developed could be saved and made into a first rate citizen if we knew just when he is psychologically ripe for persuasion. But as a rule it is just the reverse.

Take, for example, the boy who has stolen apples.

The very first thing he does is to excuse his action to himself. He finds every sort of reason why he has a right to the fruit.

The next thing, invariably, is to become indignant at the law supposed to restrain him. This passes from abstract to concrete against the person or persons who made the law, and those who uphold it, including his parents.

Set Mind Against Discipline

No child ever did anything wrong without setting his mind in favor of himself and against his preceptors. Therefore scolding or any form of punishment at this defensive time is not only likely to be useless but to deepen his private sense of outrage. In brief it may make him worse and set his determination to repeat it.

All this, naturally, is theory, and like all theory subject to change. But too, it holds a basic truth that should not be disregarded.

I am not advocate of continually delayed punishment. But neither do I think it sensible to whip or scold eternally while the offender is practically still red-handed. No matter what he has done, stolen apples, told a lie, kicked the cat or deliberately smashed a window, the wall of self-defense is there and while it is there he is bound to consider punishment an outrage.

Then there is the difference in children. Some children are thoroughly ashamed of themselves the minute they misbehave. But they would rather die almost than admit it even to themselves. This perfect hysteria of shame builds almost the same wall that the other does, because the mind turned in on itself won't listen. It couldn't stand the agony of listening anyway.

Parent Must Study Child

If the parent studies the child, the motives behind conduct and the circumstances of the offense, he will learn when it is best to wait. When the offense is past long enough for Bill or Bob to cool off, when he is in a mood to listen to the lecture and let it soak in, then he is likely to be more reasonable and to see another side other than his own.

His psychological moment—the moment when his mind is open and not closed by hysterical emotion of one sort or another.

The matter of delayed restitution or instantaneous retribution is a serious one. It is a parent that can decide.

Miss Bennett Member of Choir for "Pageant of Peace"

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 11—Miss Mary Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Bennett of 221 East Chamberlain street, Dixon, will be one of approximately 75 girls of St. Mary's college of Notre Dame who will go to Fort Wayne, Ind., on Nov. 17. The occasion is the presentation of the college "Pageant of Peace," before the National Council of Catholic Women's convention, at the invitation of the Most Rev. John Francis Noll, D. D., bishop of Fort Wayne diocese. Miss Bennett is a member of the college choir, which will furnish hymns for the pageant.

The Peace Pageant last spring was arranged by Sister M. Madeleva, C. S. C., president of St. Mary's. As a Memorial Day performance, it was dedicated to Bishop Noll in honor of the 10th anniversary of his consecration as bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Whitman of Clinton, Ill., are guests in the home of Rev. and Mrs. James A. Barnett. Mrs. Whitman is a sister of Mrs. Barnett.

Riches Girl Has Sunny Outlook

Running on a Honolulu beach, Doris Duke Cromwell appears the picture of happiness. And why not? Hawaiian sunshine, a flowery beach suit, one of the biggest incomes in the world, and the return from New York of her fiancé—husband, James Cromwell, whom she married last February—all contribute to the contentment of the "world's richest girl."

Glenda—In a Brand New Mood

Betty, aged two, can't dress herself. Betty, aged ten, can't darn her stockings. Betty, aged eighteen, cannot make herself a petticoat.

Betty at two cannot feed herself. At ten she can't set the table. At twenty she cannot cook a meal.

BECAUSE when the time was ripe for beginnings her mother always said, "She makes such a mess of things I can do it more easily myself." You see, she had her eyes on results, not on Betty.

It is a recognized fact that the child who is given the opportunity to try will develop dexterity twice as fast as the one who is held back. Furthermore, he (or she) must be encouraged to do things that he cannot do at all.

Deterioration Follows.

People who go through life performing only those feats that come easy or natural to them grow moss. And as nothing stands still, deterioration sets in and they cease to do even easy tasks well. The next stage to familiarity with a job is carelessness and lethargy.

Betty at two should have been taught to pull on her stockings, crooked and twisted perhaps, but on. At ten she should be shown how to darn her stockings and sew a ripped hem. The stockings might be a snarl and the dress not so good either, but these two acts in finger dexterity are the best things in the world for her.

After two or three tries she might get the hang of it, maybe not.

Perhaps she never will be a nimble sewer. But that effort she can have. If she can't set a hem at ten, or a darn either, just when is she going to learn to cut out a simple pattern and make things?

Mental Agility Takes Practice.

By the same token, other graces are learned by practice, besides finger dexterity. There are, for instance, the muscles of the mind. What is true of physical ability and its cultivation is applicable to mental development.

It is wise to give the child things to think about that are just a little beyond him. Not too hard, because that may lead to discouragement. But a bit of difficulty to meet and conquer, even though the victory is only part of a victory, is something gained.

We don't improve ourselves by doing only what we have managed somehow to absorb, but by attempting the next-to-impossible feat.

Betty will learn after much struggle to put on her shoes as well as her stockings. In a year she can dress herself. The big event is the day she STARTED, not the day she walks in completely caparisoned.

Beginnings may be messy, but they count.

Meeting Twentieth Century Literary Club Thursday Eve

The Twentieth Century Literary Club held their meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 14, with Mrs. Dale Cooper.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. R. Ryan. After the roll call, a short business meeting was held, at which time final plans were made for the annual guest night.

A very interesting program followed:

New York Times was given by Mrs. C. J. McLean.

Art Galleries and Museums of North and Southern Europe was given by Mrs. Gordon Bennett.

The remainder of the evening was spent in chat. The hostess served very delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Dorrance Thompson, 317 Steele avenue Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, this being the annual guest night.

Miss Reed Entertained Club at Dinner Tuesday Night

Miss Selma Reed entertained sixteen members of the N. R. A. Club Tuesday evening at a delicious 6 o'clock dinner. A business meeting followed at her home, at which time preparations were made to provide Thanksgiving baskets for the needy. A committee was also appointed to take charge of donations for Christmas cheer. Mrs. Maude Dewey was appointed committee chairman.

All members are requested to be present at the next meeting which will be held with Mrs. Helen Cochran, 1215 W. Second street.

The evening was spent in games and contests, and last but not least, the "auction sale" which created much hilarity among the guests, proved a success. Mesdames Zelma Gilbert, Maude Dewey and Dorothy Lincoln, won door prizes. All guests departed happily, voting Miss Reed a royal entertainer.

Banquet and Reception in Peoria Will Honor H. J. Bridegroom

On Saturday evening, Nov. 23, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the city of Peoria, will hold a banquet and reception in honor of Herman J. Bridegroom, Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, at the Jefferson Hotel. All members of the order and friends are invited. Reservations must be made not later than Nov. 18, with Frank S. Haven, 915 Knoxville Ave., Peoria, Ill. Listen for announcement over Station WMED.

Wooden horses are used for practice purposes by polo enthusiasts.

$600,000 Soon May Be Hers

A 16-year-old girl diligently studying in a Vinita, Okla., schoolroom is almost convinced fairy tales do come true.

Reared in poverty, Emma Jean Latham, shown in a new picture, scarcely can believe she's heiress to $600,000, left by Ellen Doyle, cousin of Emma's vanished father, who died in Kansas without leaving a will.

Unless an heir with better claim appears, the child soon will receive the fortune.

Palmyra Farm and H. Community Club

The Palmyra Farm and Home Community Club held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Sugar Grove church. A picnic supper was held at 6:45. At 8 o'clock the president, Frank Scholl, called the meeting to order. The treasurer's and secretary's reports were accepted. Roll call was answered by 70 members and their families and twenty-eight visitors.

Community singing was led by Helen Friedrichs. Miss Friedrichs then favored with a delightful vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Kathryn Sheaffer. Miss Shirley Harms gave a clarinet solo, accompanied by Miss Miriam Harms.

Prof. C. S. Rhodes and J. G. Cash, from the University of Illinois, both gave interesting talks. They talked on "Dairy Hurd Improvement." Charles Lay, Farm Adviser, gave a short talk and some announcements.

The audience was then favored with a piano solo by Miss Miriam Harms, which closed the program.

Bride to Be Honored Last Evening

The Misses Catherine Drew and Rita Lahey delightfully entertained last evening at the Lahey home in honor of the latter's sister, Miss Margaret Lahey whose engagement to Donald J. Long of Palmyra, was recently announced and whose wedding will be an event of this month.

The diversion for the happy evening was bunco, Mrs. Elmer Llevan being awarded the high prize and Miss Fleeta McConaughy the consolation favor.

A tempting two course luncheon was served with dainty decorations in ping and white. Miss Lahey was presented some lovely rock crystal goblets and sherberts as a delightful surprise from those present, with best wishes for happiness.

Kennedy-Roche Wedding October 10

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kennedy of Forrester announce the marriage of their daughter, Bessie L., to Richard H. Roche, son of W. F. Roche of Savannah, which took place in Chicago on Oct. 30. Mr. and Mrs. Roche are making their home with the bride's parents. Mrs. Roche is employed at the post office in Forrester.

O. E. S. PARLOR CLUB TO SPONSOR PARTY

The O. E. S. Parlor club will hold a public card party at the Masonic Temple next Monday afternoon, Nov. 18, at 3 o'clock. All members and friends are cordially invited. The hostesses for the afternoon include: Mrs. Chas. Finley, chairman; Mrs. Guy Merriman, Mrs. Stewart Nettz, Mrs. Ralph Zarger and Mrs. Wm. Slothower, and they are anticipating a large attendance and a pleasant and profitable afternoon is assured.

COOK BEETS IN THEIR SKINS

Beets should be cooked with their skins on if they are to retain color and flavor. If you like beets served with vinegar, add a little sugar, too, to improve the taste.

TO DINE IN ROCKFORD THIS EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur D. Hart will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Canon at dinner in Rockford this evening.

First Picture of Marina's Son

Meeting of W. C. T. U. Held Friday Was Most Inspiring

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at 2:30 o'clock in the Methodist church, the president presiding.

As this was the November meeting, the praise and Thanksgiving program was given by Mrs. Henry Leydig and other members.

The meeting opened with singing, with Mrs. Edward Dawson as pianist, followed by another song. The secretary read the roll call and it was with appreciation that the growth of the union was noted.

Mrs. Maud Hobbs led inspiring devotions, from Psalms 121 and 117, both are psalms of praise and thanksgiving. Each one present gave thanks for the many blessings of the past year. Mrs. Harriet Olds, Mrs. C. E. Hill and Miss Kate Plant followed with prayer, and a song followed. Miss Flora Seals, secretary gave a very good report of the October meeting. Mrs. W. E. Frey, treasurer, gave her report. A motion was made and carried to send $10.00 to the Frances E. Willard Educational Fund. It was voted to send the Union Signal to the Public Library and Chamber of Commerce for this year.

Mrs. Henry Leydig gave an interesting account of the playlet "What Shall It Profit," given at the Brethren church last Sunday evening, which was worth while, instructive and helpful, attended by several members of the union.

Mrs. Leydig and Mrs. Geo. Carpenter were appointed the program committee for the December meeting to be held in the Methodist church.

Mrs. Leydig was also program chairman of the interesting program on the National Convention held in the Dennis hotel at Atlantic City, N. J. This hotel has never served liquor and the management was delighted to have the W. C. T. U. seven-day convention held there. The reports from this convention give 433 new unions formed, and 25,504 new members in the past year, which is very encouraging to the Dixon union.

Mrs. W. E. Frey gave a splendid report of the paper of Mrs. Stanley Jones, missionary sent from America to India, telling of liquor problems in both countries.

Seed Time and Harvest was given by Mrs. C. E. Hill and told of the campaign and growth of nations by presidents Mrs. Ida B. Wells Smith and Mrs. DeYoe.

The last of the seven-day conference was given by Miss Flora Seals, on the banquet, toasts, etc. "The prohibition question will never be settled, until it is settled right."

It was a love of the work and her strength for it, which gave to Frances E. Willard her power to fight the prohibition problems.

Just as she did must we fight against drink and its evil effects.

This national convention program and praise meeting was very instructive and worth while.

Mrs. Hannah Heckman gave a report of the national convention she attended in Detroit, in 1925, which are still pleasant memories to her. The collection was then taken and the meeting closed with happy memories of November, 1935, meeting.

Practice in Childhood Gives Domestic Skill

By Olive Roberts Barton.

Betty, aged two, can't dress herself. Betty, aged ten, can't darn her stockings. Betty, aged eighteen, cannot make herself a petticoat.

Betty at two cannot feed herself. At ten she can't set the table. At twenty she cannot cook a meal.

BECAUSE when the time was ripe for beginnings her mother always said, "She makes such a mess of things I can do it more easily myself." You see, she had her eyes on results, not on Betty.

It is a recognized fact that the child who is given the opportunity to try will develop dexterity twice as fast as the one who is held back. Furthermore, he (or she) must be encouraged to do things that he cannot do at all.

Deterioration Follows.

People who go through life performing only those feats that come easy or natural to them grow moss. And as nothing stands still, deterioration sets in and they cease to do even easy tasks well. The next stage to familiarity with a job is carelessness and lethargy.

Betty at two should have been taught to pull on her stockings, crooked and twisted perhaps, but on. At ten she should be shown how to darn her stockings and sew a ripped hem. The stockings might be a snarl and the dress not so good either, but these two acts in finger dexterity are the best things in the world for her.

After two or three tries she might get the hang of it, maybe not.

Perhaps she never will be a nimble sewer. But that effort she can have. If she can't set a hem at ten, or a darn either, just when is she going to learn to cut out a simple pattern and make things?

Mental Agility Takes Practice.

By the same token, other graces are learned by practice, besides finger dexterity. There are, for instance, the muscles of the mind. What is true of physical ability and its cultivation is applicable to mental development.

It is wise to give the child things to think about that are just a little beyond him. Not too hard, because that may lead to discouragement. But a bit of difficulty to meet and conquer, even though the victory is only part of a victory, is something gained.

We don't improve ourselves by doing only what we have managed somehow to absorb, but by attempting the next-to-impossible feat.

Betty will learn after much struggle to put on her shoes as well as her stockings. In a year she can dress herself. The big event is the day she STARTED, not the day she walks in completely caparisoned.

Beginnings may be messy, but they count.

Meeting Twentieth Century Literary Club Thursday Eve

The Twentieth Century Literary Club held their meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 14, with Mrs. Dale Cooper.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. R. Ryan. After the roll call, a short business meeting was held, at which time final plans were made for the annual guest night.

A very interesting program followed:

New York Times was given by Mrs. C. J. McLean.

Art Galleries and Museums of North and Southern Europe was given by Mrs. Gordon Bennett.

The remainder of the evening was spent in chat. The hostess served very delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Dorrance Thompson, 317 Steele avenue Tuesday evening, Nov. 26, this being the annual guest night.

Miss Reed Entertained Club at Dinner Tuesday Night

Miss Selma Reed entertained sixteen members of the N. R. A. Club Tuesday evening at a delicious 6 o'clock dinner. A business meeting followed at her home, at which time preparations were made to provide Thanksgiving baskets for the needy. A committee was also appointed to take charge of donations for Christmas cheer. Mrs. Maude Dewey was appointed committee chairman.

All members are requested to be present at the next meeting which will be held with Mrs. Helen Cochran, 1215 W. Second street.

The evening was spent in games and contests, and last but not least, the "auction sale" which created much hilarity among the guests, proved a success. Mesdames Zelma Gilbert, Maude Dewey and Dorothy Lincoln, won door prizes. All guests departed happily, voting Miss Reed a royal entertainer.

Banquet and Reception in Peoria Will Honor H. J. Bridegroom

On Saturday evening, Nov. 23, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the city of Peoria, will hold a banquet and reception in honor of Herman J. Bridegroom, Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, at the Jefferson Hotel. All members of the order and friends are invited. Reservations must be made not later than Nov. 18, with Frank S. Haven, 915 Knoxville Ave., Peoria, Ill. Listen for announcement over Station WMED.

Wooden horses are used for practice purposes by polo enthusiasts.

$600,000 Soon May Be Hers

A 16-year-old girl diligently studying in a Vinita, Okla., schoolroom is almost convinced fairy tales do come true.

Reared in poverty, Emma Jean Latham, shown in a new picture, scarcely can believe she's heiress to $600,000, left by Ellen Doyle, cousin of Emma's vanished father, who died in Kansas without leaving a will.

Unless an heir with better claim appears, the child soon will receive the fortune.

Palmyra Farm and H. Community Club

The Palmyra Farm and Home Community Club held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Sugar Grove church. A picnic supper was held at 6:45. At 8 o'clock the president, Frank Scholl, called the meeting to order. The treasurer's and secretary's reports were accepted. Roll call was answered by 70 members and their families and twenty-eight visitors.

Community singing was led by Helen Friedrichs. Miss Friedrichs then favored with a delightful vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Kathryn Sheaffer. Miss Shirley Harms gave a clarinet solo, accompanied by Miss Miriam Harms.

Prof. C. S. Rhodes and J. G. Cash, from the University of Illinois, both gave interesting talks. They talked on "Dairy Hurd Improvement." Charles Lay, Farm Adviser, gave a short talk and some announcements.

LET US NOT BE FOOLED BY CROCODILE TEARS

All-wise Mother Nature forgot to equip the crocodile with regular tear glands, so that when this rather terrifying reptile weeps he is generally supposed to be getting ready to bite somebody; and it is worth remembering that the same rule often applies in the big, wide world of human affairs.

Just at present a great many tears are being shed by British statesmen about the deplorable condition of the British fleet. Since a big naval conference is due to be held in a short time, there is a natural suspicion that these tears are of the crocodile variety. Let's have a look at things and see.

The recent exchange of harsh looks between Mussolini and Stanley Baldwin is supposed to have revealed the pitiable weakness of England's sea forces. We are told that the British fleet is deficient in battleships, in cruisers, in submarines, in everything that makes an admiral's life worth living, and that the Mediterranean show caused the empire as a unit to quake in its shoes because of the fleet's weakness.

Now it happens that there are two prominent Englishmen, amply informed on naval matters, who don't agree with this diagnosis. They are Lord Staborgi, formerly Lord Kenworthy, an ex-naval officer and member of Parliament, and the Right Honorable Albert V. Alexander, former First Lord of the Admiralty.

These men say bluntly that England's navy is still the strongest on earth. They point out that England has the two most modern battleships afloat in the Rodney and Nelson; that her Hood is the mightiest warship in the world; that the British navy is the only one which possesses battle cruisers, having three of these craft; and that when ships now under construction are finished, Britain will have 17 more cruisers than any other power on earth.

That is not a picture of a navy that is rotting away in the midst of heavily-armed enemies. It is rather a picture of the world's greatest sea power taking care that it remain the world's greatest sea power.

In that case, why the crocodile tears?

Well, this naval conference is coming; and if the way can be paved properly, Americans will pat the mother country tenderly on the back and tell her for heaven's sake to go build a few warships before her fleet falls apart on her. Then, when the dust settles, they will find that they have kindly negotiated their own navy into permanent inferiority.

Maybe it would be good policy for America to accept second place. That isn't the point. The point is that whatever they do should be done with open eyes. Being fooled by crocodile tears can be costly.

LUSITANIA, SAD SYMBOL OF HUMAN FUTILITY

They have found the submerged hulk of the Lusitania, at last, deep in the water off Kinsale Head, and divers have gone to the bottom and brought back rusty rivetheads for proof; and the whole triumphant exploit makes up one of the saddest commentaries imaginable on the state of human affairs today.

Consider the implications of this whole story of the Lusitania.

There was, first of all, the ship itself; a marvelous triumph of human intelligence, of human mastery of raw iron and brute force, a floating city, more comfortable and luxurious than any palace that Caesar or Pharaoh ever saw, capable of bridging the Atlantic in less than a week.

The mere fact that mankind had reached a point where it could conceive, design, and build such a ship spoke volumes about the development of human intelligence.

Next, there was the Lusitania's sinking. A submarine lay in wait in the waters, unseen by its victim, and a man peered through an arrangement of mirrors to draw a bead on a ship which, in actual fact, he could not really see at all—for he was 20 feet under water at the time.

A torpedo was released, it sped through the water some hundreds of yards as accurately as though Death himself perched on its nose as a helmsman, and the Lusitania went to the bottom.

There, again, was another marvel of our skill; for a submarine and its torpedo are, between them, supreme evidence of the fiendish cleverness with which we can manipulate inanimate materials.

And, lastly, a salvage boat has found the wreck, men have gone down some scores of fathoms to look at it, and in the course of time every compartment will be examined, valuables will be recovered, and Davy Jones' locker itself will be thoroughly and competently rifled.

And now think of this: we, the human race as a whole, had the brains, the imagination, and the power to do all these remarkable things; to design and build a marvel like the Lusitania, to strike her down with a weapon almost incredibly ingenious, and to come back two decades later and explore the sunken wreckage—but we have not at any time had the simple good sense and good will to use all this ingenuity and skill to our own advantage!

Able to build ships like the Lusitania, we are unable to protect them from our own destructiveness. We can make them, but we can't use them.

We devoted quite as much thought and effort to the submarine and its torpedo as to the Lusitania itself. We learned how to equip ourselves for a good life, and then wrecked our equipment; and today the best thing we can do is send divers to the bottom to have a peek at the wreckage.

This Lusitania story will tell future historians all they need to know about us; that we won mastery over everything but—ourselves.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The big toothbrush said, "Now, my friends, here's where our crazy dancing ends. We've entertained you, I am sure, so please do as we say."

"The small toothbrushes are all set to help you little youngsters get your teeth real clean. That is the proper way to start the day."

"You'll note six brushes dashed right out, so there is naught to fight about. A fine toothbrush for each of you. All of you follow me."

"The old sponge lady, bless her soul, was kind enough to leave her bowl. I'll fill it with fresh water from the well near yonder tree."

The bowl was picked up off the ground and, as the Twyvites gathered round, the toothbrush dipped it in the well. "Now we're all set," it cried.

"Somebody squeeze the tube of paste, and don't let any go to waste, 'cause if you do, the tube is bound to run away and hide."

"Gee, I wish that's what it would do, although, of course, I know that you are really trying to help us," said wee Duncy, with a frown.

"I don't like scrubbing teeth one bit, but I suppose I must do it. You've been so kind, I haven't quite the heart to turn you down."

"I'm first," cried Scouty. "Form in line. I really think this stunt is fine." And then he scrubbed his teeth until they were a pearly white.

"The big toothbrush then said, 'Well, son, you see how easily it's done. The rest must do the same thing, now, ere I run out of sight.'"

And then the tube of paste said, "Gee, the Twyvites were real kind to me. I got much better treatment here than any place I've been."

"I thought they'd squeeze out lots of paste and let a whole lot go to waste. I would have been real sad, because that would have made me thin."

FILIPINOS IN SADDLE; TAKE GOVERNMENT

Final American Act Pardons Sixty Prisoners

Manila, P. I., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The pardoning of 60 political prisoners—the final official act of America's last governor-general of the Philippines—was disclosed today as the Filipinos took over government of their own islands.

After the inauguration of Manuel Quezon as first president of the commonwealth, Frank Murphy, retiring governor general, announced his action.

"I think this will set an example of liberalism to the new government," he confided to friends.

Some of those released were superstitious members of the Colorum secret society of Surigao province in the southern Philippines, who had been in prison a decade. A few were communists and the remainder Sakalists involved in the May 2 uprising in which 60 were killed. "These are all political prisoners," said the former Detroit mayor who was made United States high commissioner of the islands. "Those convicted of actual acts of violence were not freed."

After two years and five months as governor general, Murphy stepped out of the political picture when he turned over the reins of government of the 250,000 islanders to Quezon at impressive ceremonies.

Rumors of extremist uprisings failed to materialize as the crowd, said by officials to be the largest in insular history, gathered in a huge square facing the legislature building.

Constabulary and reinforced police were scattered throughout the throng, but there were no reports of serious outbreaks. Elaborate precautions to protect the president-elect and other officials had been taken in view of vague reports proponents of immediate independence might seize on the inaugural ceremonies as the moment to turn their opposition into violence.

Quezon, who accepted the presidency with a promise to govern conservatively and to avoid violent changes in the established order as his first official act, ordered all Philippine officials to "swear to accept the supreme authority of the United States in these islands and to maintain true faith and allegiance thereto."

He took command of insular forces, such as the constabulary, and summoned the new unicameral national assembly to convene Nov. 22.

DAILY HEALTH

RICKETS PREVENTION: II.

Vitamin D is not widely distributed among our common foods. Indeed, it is almost confined to liver, eggs, milk, butter and fresh green vegetables, the latter containing but little. To safeguard ourselves against the lack of vitamin D, we should therefore supplement our diet with one or another of the known sources of this vitamin.

Rickets, it has been shown, can be both prevented and cured in any one of three ways: by the administration of cod-liver oil or one of its substitutes, by exposure to sunlight, and by exposure to ultraviolet light rays emanating from an artificial source.

Sun bathing in summer time is easy and pleasant. In winter it becomes something of a problem. The use of ultraviolet lamps is costly and not entirely without risk. From a practical viewpoint we depend then especially in winter time on cod-liver oil for our vitamin D.

Cod-liver oil contains vitamin A and iodine in addition to vitamin D. Hence it is generally superior to most of the viosterol substitutes. However, at times the sensitiveness of the patient to the fishy taste and smell of the oil makes it desirable to use some substitute. Here then we may use viosterol fortified with vitamin A, or halibut liver oil fortified with viosterol.

Whichever substitute, if any, is indicated, must be decided upon by the physician who has studied the particular case. It is not wise to experiment blindly.

We can, however, set down certain general measures for the use of cod-liver oil in the prevention of rickets in children and infants.

Make use of a standard brand of oil, sold by a reputable firm. The infant may be given three drops of pure refined oil three times a day. The dose should then be increased, so that by the time the infant is three months of age it is receiving one and a half teaspoonfuls daily. Children should have one large tablespoonful of oil each day.

Recently there has been developed a vitamin D containing milk, which is palatable and dependable.

ORDER FURTHER PROBE OF NASH SLAYING TODAY

Widow's Confession of Killing Not Thought True

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 16.—(AP)—State's Attorney L. P. Zerweck ordered further investigation of the killing of William Howard Nash of East St. Louis and said he doubted admissions of Nash's widow, Mrs. Peggy Nash, that she fired the fatal shots.

Zerweck's action followed an assertion by Assistant State's Attorney Fred Bier he believed Nash, taxicab company owner and former Chicago beer distributor, was a victim of gang activities.

Bier, after questioning Mrs. Nash for more than four hours yesterday, told Zerweck he was convinced she was trying to conceal the real slayer.

Edward O. Hancock, Mrs. Nash's lawyer, said she admitted to him she had not told the truth when she told police she shot her husband in a quarrel over money.

Hancock also quoted Dr. Wesley Nolden of East St. Louis as saying Nash told him he was shot by a man. Questioned about this, Dr. Nolden said professional ethics would not permit him to reveal anything that may have been said to him by Nash.

Authorities said Mrs. Nash, 30-year-old blond, admitted she was a sister of Mrs. Elfrida McErlane, slain wife of Frank McErlane, notorious Chicago gangster, who died in 1932 of pneumonia.

AMBOY NEWS

BY FRANCES LEPPERD.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Partington and family had Sunday dinner at the home of E. E. Griffith.

Secretaries and bookkeepers of county service companies in the northern district of Illinois met in Amboy Thursday at the Masonic hall. A complete revision of all accounting forms and methods used in the 60 service companies has been effected and this meeting is one of a series planned to acquaint office workers with the new system.

The gathering was a school of instruction conducted by the Chicago office. A dinner was served at noon and the meeting was an all day affair.

Jack Carlson celebrated his ninth birthday Monday, November 11.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kirk and family spent Sunday at Maytown visiting Frank Kirk.

Junior of the Amboy Township high school are busily engaged in putting finishing touches on their class play, "Thru the Keyhole," in preparation for the presentation of this highly entertaining comedy in the high school Friday evening, November 15. Miss C. Olive Sawlaw, who directed "The Patsy" last year is directing the play.

Wale Reilly, director of the University of Minnesota Theatre, has this to say about the play: "Thru the Keyhole" was the most popular play presented last season. I believe that it received more laughs than any play we have put on for a long time."

The play revolves about the antics of Grandma Tierney (Elizabeth Wedlock), a charming old lady. Grandma has the habit of listening through keyholes because as she says, "You can learn more through a keyhole than you can through college, and there is less to unlearn afterwards." Nothing at any kid party can shock her old eyes and so grandma insists on going to a party. During the course of the events she plays both cupid and detective. She has a witty rebuke for each of her grandchildren's pretenses.

The Van Camps, Genevieve and Archie (Betty Berga and Roger Helbig) are interested in the grandchildren of Mrs. Tierney, Jim and Mary (Joe Garland and Frances Fanello) for a reason they do not disclose. But grandma with her keen understanding of human motives exposes them, and then dispenses with them thoroughly when she says, "You get out of here before I call the garbage man."

Joan, the French maid (Eileen Morrissey) is a charming young actress, who does her share of building up mirth, provoking situations. One would think that William, the butler (John Abbott) would lose his dignity when grandma expresses her contempt for the flipperies of service by calling him "Bill," but not so! George Allen (Stanley Reaser) is the handsome young gentleman who gave the party at which so much happened.

The excellent wit and keen sense of humor displayed in the unfolding of the drama promises to make a very interesting evening for the audience.

Bill Branigan and John T. Burns spent Monday and Tuesday in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Barlow spent last Sunday at the home of their son Earl Barlow in Princeton.

John Branigan of Tulsa, Okla., spent the past week end with Amboy relatives.

Miss Jean Aschenbrenner spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Brewer in Chicago.

Among those from here who attended the Amboy-Oregon football game at Oregon last Friday were:

Ronald Meeker, Margaret Schuck, Eileen Cole, Elizabeth Wedlock, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Griffith, Mrs. C. A. Lee, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Miss Ruth Thornley, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bachofen, Newton C. Stone, Mrs. Elma Litts, Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. DeWees, Gene Strouss, O. C. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. George Missman, Mrs. James Covill and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goode.

Among those from here who attended the Illinois-Michigan football game at Champaign Saturday were: Miss Thelma Prytherch, Miss Rose Murtaugh, Warren Badger, Herman Bachofen, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Griffith, daughter Annabelle and sons Walter and John, Floyd Covill, Miss Zetta Boehle, Carl Boehle, Miss Madge Wolcott, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Miss Ruth Thornley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yale and Preston Wolcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Deitchoff and Florence Pahl and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Reob and daughter Maxine of Oak Park were Sunday guests at the Joe Miller home in Paw Paw.

Mrs. M. Arthur Lavery and daughter Theresa, who have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Counter at Lemont accompanied Mr. Lavery to Amboy Monday morning to make their new home. Mr. Lavery has been employed as intertype operator at the Amboy News office for the past several months. They will live in Mrs. Martha Krehl's house on West Division street.

Last Tuesday evening, the sewing club of Lemont, of which Mrs. Lavery is a member, surprised her at the home of her parents with a farewell party. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served and the guest of honor was presented with a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Zierke and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Lindenmeyer of Amboy and Mrs. Ethel Trottnow of Dixon motored to Peoria Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Lindenmeyer and Mrs. Trottnow visited with Mr. Lindenmeyer's brother Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Zierke and son visited with Mr. Zierke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Zierke. Fred Binder spent last Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Mary Binder and his sister, Miss Clara Binder at Earlville. Mr. Binder is driving a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzpatrick of Rockford were overnight guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Borgmeier.

John Bridgman is assisting in Nowe's hardware store during the absence of Junior Klein who is a patient at the Amboy hospital, recovering from a recent operation.

Mrs. J. J. Cole returned Tuesday evening from St. Paul, Minn., where she had been called on account of the illness of her uncle, J. B. O'Hara.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Finn returned home Thursday from their wedding trip to Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Finn returned to her work in Dr. Holladay's office and Mr. Finn to his work at the I. N. U. office on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Leake entertained several guests over the week end. On Saturday evening a scramble supper was enjoyed at the Leake cabin and on Sunday the ladies of the party were entertained at the Leake home in Amboy, while the men were guests at the cabin and also enjoyed hunting. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Oster and son Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Mart Weigum and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weber of Aurora.

Ninety-four attended the annual Armistice Day banquet at which members of the American Legion Auxiliary entertained the ex-service men of the community, Monday evening at the Masonic hall. After a sumptuous turkey dinner a fine program was given. The program was presented as follows: "America," audience, led by Roy Long; prayer, Rev. Roy Merfield; solo, "Love Everlasting" (Friml) and "For You" (Montague); Mrs. Roy Long, accompanied by Mrs. O. N. Eckburg, cornet duet, "Till We Meet Again" and "My Buddy"; Walter George Griffith and Chas. Missman, accompanied by Mrs. L. S. Griffith; welcome, Mrs. Florence Dietchhoff, president of Legion Auxiliary; response, Ed Branigan, commander of Legion; address, "Preparedness for Peace," Stanley R. Miller Boy Scout executive of Chicago; presentation of our only lady member of the Legion, Mrs. Harry Turnquist. After the program 500 was played, prizes being awarded Mrs. James Kelley, ladies' first; Mr. Leffelman, men's first; Mrs. O. A. Dickinson, ladies' consolation; and Arthur Tittle, men's consolation. Later dancing was enjoyed with Wayne Fagan's orchestra furnishing the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becker are the parents of an eight and one-half pound son, born Tuesday evening, November 12, at the Amboy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morrissey are the parents of a daughter, born Monday, November 11.

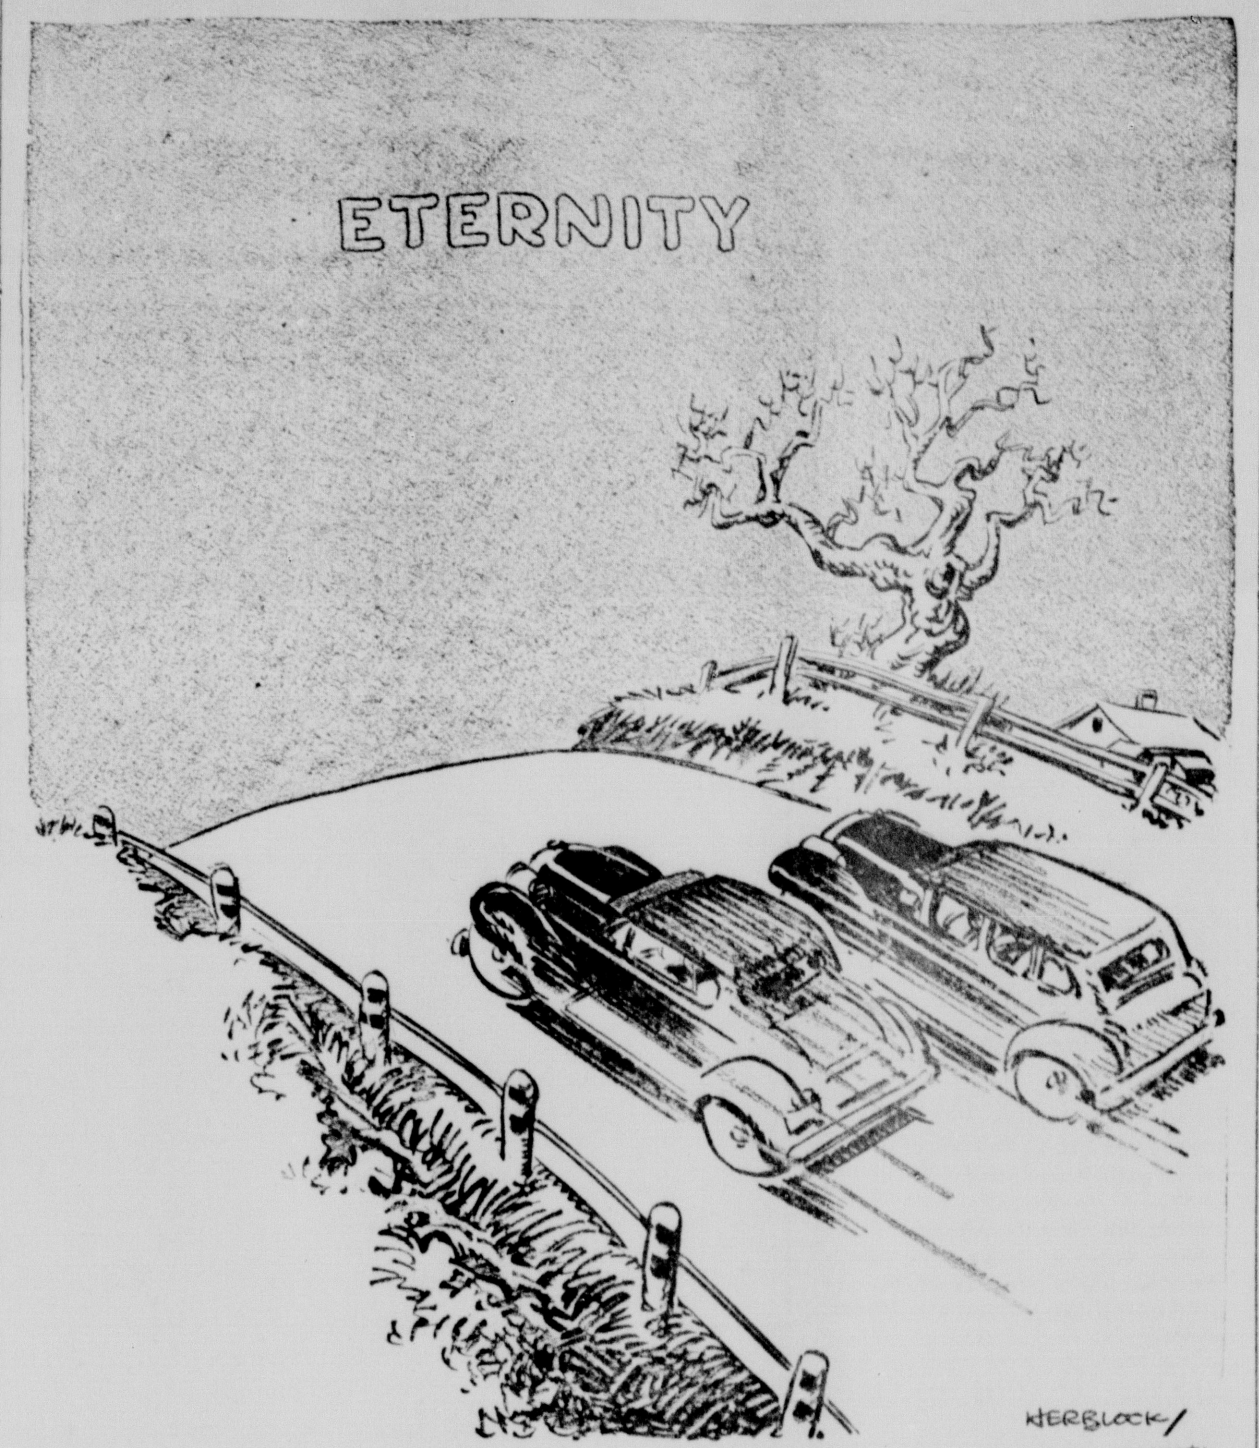

Coach James Dominetta of Amboy Township high school will officiate at the basketball game to be played at Steward Friday evening. The game will be played in dedication of the new PWA gymnasium completed at Steward.

Mrs. William Gale and son spent the week end at the Dave Leuscher home.

Mrs. Frank Gray visited her daughter Miss Clara Gray in Dixon last week. She returned home Tuesday.

'It's Just a Short Trip--You Can Make It In No Time In a Car'

Theatre Manager Who Once Paid Will Rogers $175 for One Week--And Protested--Later Was Delighted to Pay Him $3000 for One Show

Twenty years ago, John R. Elliott, Youngstown, Ohio, theatre manager, sought an extra-special vaudeville bill--something with plenty of zip and snap--for the opening bill for his fine new vaudeville theater. And here's the bill he finally lined up and what he paid for it for the week:

Prevost & Brown.....	$125.00
Will Rogers	175.00
Blossom Seely	650.00
Cantor & Lee	350.00
Billie Gaxton	350.00
Bernie & Baker	250.00
Five Columbians	300.00
Total	$2,300.00

The whole bill was satisfactory to Elliott--that is, but the one act with the horse.

"This guy Rogers," argued Elliott, with the booking agent, "won't do. The rest of the bill is fine--but Rogers is out. This, you understand, is something special, an opening bill."

But the booking agent finally prevailed upon Elliott to accept the bill, Rogers and his horse, along with the others--Joe Brown and Marie Prevost, movie celebrities now; Blossom Seely who later became a famous stage star, Eddie Cantor, Billie Gaxton, now a famous Broadway star; Ben Bernie, the radio and movie star and Phil Baker of radio fame; and Marilyn Miller, who became a famous Ziegfeld and movie star.

Years later, Elliott sought to book Will Rogers, again--this time for a single performance at $3,000; and he didn't get him until he got a bad scare.

Meeting Elliott, Will Rogers launched a lengthy tirade. "You--you--you," he stormed. "You, as I figure owe me $41,825."

Elliott was taken back, under the storm. Rogers went on. "You're willing to give me $3,000 now for one appearance; before you paid me $175 for 14 appearances. I'm still the same man. You owe me $41,825--to say nothing of what you owe my horse."

Paw Paw--Sunday, Nov. 17, will be a great day at the Baptist church. The Wheaton college quintet will be here for all services that day. These talented young men will bring us a great blessing with their singing, instrumental music and addresses. The Baptist Men's Council met at the church Monday evening for its first regular meeting. In spite of the rainy night, 21 men turned out. After a brief devotional service and business period, Owen Miller of the Northern Baptist Seminary sang a solo, then W. A. Adams, president, gave a fine talk in which he outlined the purposes and objectives of the council. This program was followed by a social time and refreshments. The men enjoyed the evening very much and are looking forward to the next meeting on the first Monday of December.

BARRYMORE CAN PROVE HE'S NOT BARRIE FIANCÉ

Denies Diamond Was Taken of Love; To Return It

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—John Barrymore, the movie star, is under no obligation to Miss Elaine Barrie, his erstwhile protegee-fiancee, and has her signature in black and white to prove it, Frank Aranow, Barrymore's attorney announced today.

The glittering diamond ring which Miss Barrie said plighted their troth and which Mr. Barrymore said merely sealed their friendship, will be returned to the young student actress, Aranow said.

A simple statement couched in legal terms announced the end of the romance that began in a hospital, was nourished by sea breezes on a yacht trip to the Caribbean, and was climaxed by Barrymore's cross-country flight with his "aerial" in full pursuit.

The statement, signed by Aranow, follows:

"In behalf of Mr. John Barrymore, I have arranged to return to Miss Elaine Barrie the diamond ring which she claims belongs to her. Miss Barrie has made no other claims against Mr. Barrymore and both Miss Barrie and her mother, who is her legal guardian, have signed statements that Mr. Barrymore is under no obligation to them.

"Miss Barrie did not ask for any money nor was any money paid to her."

Harvard Legionnaires Will Furnish Redmen Biggest Opposition

Have Won 45 Games Out of 53 Past Few Seasons

Perhaps the outstanding independent football game of the autumn season will be played on Dixon high school's field Sunday afternoon when the Harvard American Legion eleven tangles with the Dixon Redmen. The game begins at 2 P. M. sharp, and a large crowd is expected.

Many former high school and college stars decorate the line-up of the Harvard team. The invaders are not lacking in beef either. Hansman tackle weighs 253 pounds. This giant played for Woodstock high school a few years ago. Splinter, bulky fullback, is considered able to live up to his name as far as splintering opposing lines is concerned. He weighs 209 and hits like a battering ram. Ambler, the other tackle, tips the beam at 233.

Splinter played football at Augustana college and Ambler was a Harvard high school gragger.

Ranges in Weight.

The remainder of the Harvard team ranges in weight from 141 pounds up to 253. The team was organized in 191 and is sponsored by the Harvard American Legion. Since the team organized it has played 45 games, suffering only eight defeats. Harvard has defeated such outstanding independent teams as the Kenosha Club, Kenosha, Wis., the Milwaukee Brewers Club and the Racine Club of Racine, Wis.

Dixon's line-up will consist of Bellows, left end; Jones, left tackle; Knapp, left guard; Holland, center; Buchanan, right guard; Schunefeldt, right tackle; Stauffer, right end; Miller, quarterback; McIntyre, right halfback; Witzleb, left halfback; and Wolford, fullback. The locals have not been defeated in three games and their goal line remains uncrossed. The Redmen have beaten Rockford All-Stars 34 to 0, Janesville, Wis., 27 to 0, and Preport's Pros were tied 0 to 0 on a muddy field.

The Lineup Given.

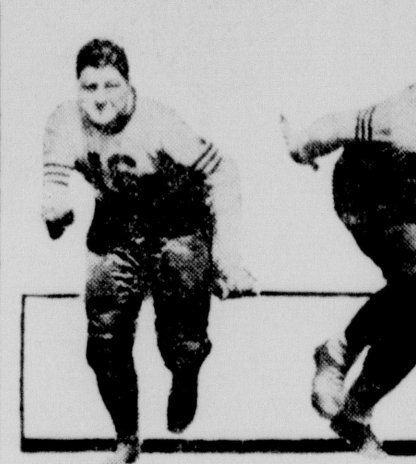

Following is Harvard's line-up with schools where they formerly played: Hansman, tackle, 253 lbs., formerly of Woodstock high; Leonard, halfback, 141, St. Edward's college; Jenners, halfback, 170, Crystal Lake high; Salvanson, fullback, 169, Crystal Lake high; Wurtzinger, end, 168, St. Edward's college; Smith, guard, 189, St. Mary's high; DiBona, halfback, 145, Marenco high; BaShaw, guard, 197, Lake Forest; Stuessy, quarterback, 190, Texas University; Splinter, fullback, 209, Augustana; Sedboe, guard, 188, Antioch high; Strain, quarterback, 180, University of Wisconsin; Minnegan, halfback, 184, DeKalb; Inger, center, 169, Woodstock high; Bremer, end, 173, Marenco high; Twell, halfback, 142, St. Mary's high; Rawleigh, tackle, 174, and Ambler, tackle, 133, Harvard high.

GIANTS TACKLE CHICAGO BEARS CRUCIAL GAME

Giants Are the National League Champs and Strong

Jewish and Italian players are well represented on the New York Giant football squad. National league champions, who invade Wrigley Field to meet the Chicago Bears Sunday afternoon. Harry Newman, who followed in the footsteps of the great Benny Friedman at Michigan and then with the Giants as one of the greatest forward passers in the game, Bernie Kaplan, a guard from Western Maryland university playing his first season in the post-graduate circuit; Walt Singer, an end from Syracuse University, also playing his first year, are the Jewish lads, while Jess Quatse, playing his second pro campaign and his first with the Giants as a tackle, and Johnny Dell Isola, playing his second season at center, are the Italians.

Redheads, too, are plentiful with Stu Clancy, the undertaker, Morrie Badgro, Bill Owen and "Red" Oliver sporting brilliant thatches. The latter is a new man who played at Texas Christian.

Must Be In Shape.

However, Jewish, Italian, German or Redhead, Coach George Halas is warning the Bears they must be in top condition and shoot their best if they expect to win. A defense for the great forward passing of Newman and Ed Dan-

Halas points out that the Giants were without the services of three of their star performers in the Nov. 3 contest, namely Dale Burnett, one of the leading pass receivers in the league; Ken Strong, field goal artist and one of the best backs in the circuit; and Badgro.

With no game scheduled last Sunday the Giants therefore will have the advantage of a two week rest and should be in the "pink" for Sunday's test.

In contrast to this the Bears emerged from the Giant game with injuries that prevented three players from getting into the Boston game last Sunday at all. Art Buss, Red Pollock and Keith Molesworth warmed the bench while Jack Manders was sent in only to boot the point after touchdowns, being removed as soon as he had done this duty.

The visiting club leads the National league in aerial attack with a record of having completed about 43 per cent of their attempts and in this respect Ed Danowski is the big gun, his record of throwing and completing 47 percent.

LAYTON MEETS COCHRAN IN CUE TOURNEY TODAY

Chicago, Nov. 16. — (AP) — Johnny Layton, the deliberate shotmaker from Sedalia, Mo., tonight will face Walker Cochran in an attempt to halt the San Francisco's rush to the world three cushion billiards championship.

Allen Hall of St. Louis will meet Tiff Denton of Kansas City in the other night affair. Arthur Thurnbald of Chicago, and Willie Hoppe, of New York, the only players with chances of overtaking Cochran, were listed for afternoon appearances. Thurnbald was matched with Otto Reisch of Philadelphia, while Hoppe's foe was Jay Bozeman, youngster from Vallejo, Calif.

At the rate Cochran operated last night in smothering Bozeman 50 to 20 for his sixth straight victory, Layton will have his hands full. Layton showed flashes of his best form in defeating Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago 50 to 38, in 53 innings. He played carefully, leaving the Chicago southpaw little.

Kinsey Matsuyama, tiny Japanese from New York, finished his tournament schedule in victorious fashion, defeating Denton, 50 to 45, in 57 innings. Matsuyama had to come from behind, but brilliant shooting of the tournament.

Hall also reached top form, overwhelming Reisch, 50 to 28, in a 39 inning match.

COLONY CAGE TEAM ENLISTS NEW PLAYERS

Kesselring And Clown Antics Are Missing

Two complete basketball teams composed of Dixon State Hospital employees have been practicing at the amusement hall this week getting in shape for their 1935-36 season.

The State Hospital quint this year has been reinforced by two or three new stars who promise to strengthen the team materially over that of last year. The newcomers to the squad are L. Jones, former high school star in southern Illinois, Quilman, also a former basketball ace, and L. Springer, one of the mainstays of a former Galesburg high school team that went far in the prep tournaments of that section.

Captain-elect "Slim" Mansfield, last pair of National Hockey league teams to test their prowess in regular season competition, the Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons, swing into action at Montreal tonight.

Only the Detroit Red Wings remain idle both tonight and tomorrow while the "old men" of the New York Rangers tackle the tough job of playing in Toronto tonight and in Chicago tomorrow.

The New York Americans and Montreal Canadiens, who went through the biggest changes of any clubs in the league during the summer, come together in New York Sunday.

Windy Can Play.

Another member of the Yellow-jackets who will not be seen in action will be Windy Midmiller, the free throw artist de luxe, who last year made what is believed to be a record number of free throws in this section, well over one hundred.

Windy has stomach trouble. He might appear in the lineup later in the winter if he feels better.

Familiar faces who will be seen in the Hospital lineup besides Wyreman and Mansfield will be Miller, Doty, Tony Guzzardo, Pullen and Phelps. In a practice game with the patients Tuesday evening the employees drubbed their opposition 39 to 19.

It was not known today whether or not the Dixon State Hospital cagers will enter the Industrial league this year.

QUARTERS SET UP TO HANDLE KNOX CORRESPONDENCE

Chicago, Nov. 16. — (AP) — Edward A. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion, announced that he and others will set up a political headquarters here to "handle the correspondence" of Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate.

Hayes, a practicing attorney of Decatur, Ill., said Col. Knox had been "inundated with mail from all parts of the country, and has had a steady stream of callers," since the Republican state central committee of Illinois endorsed him for the nomination in September.

"A group of his personal friends decided some action had to be taken to relieve him of the additional burdens," said Hayes, "and for that reason we have decided to open offices Monday."

Hayes will be in charge, it was explained, with Philip W. Collins, another prominent Illinois Legionaire.

Fast Track Awaits Arlington Racing Field for Handicap

Arlington Downs, Tex., Nov. 16. — (AP) — A fast track was in prospect today for the third annual $15,000 Waggoner Memorial Handicap in which A. A. Baroni's Top Row ruled an overwhelming favorite.

Approximately 30,000 were expected to see the mile and one-eighth classic, dedicated to the late Col. W. T. Waggoner, builder of the $3,000,000 Arlington Downs plant and the man who brought legalized horse racing to Texas.

Twelve thoroughbreds were expected to answer post call.

Bruins, Maroons Hockey Teams To See Action Today

New York, Nov. 16. — (AP) — The last pair of National Hockey league teams to test their prowess in regular season competition, the Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons, swing into action at Montreal tonight.

Only the Detroit Red Wings remain idle both tonight and tomorrow while the "old men" of the New York Rangers tackle the tough job of playing in Toronto tonight and in Chicago tomorrow.

The New York Americans and Montreal Canadiens, who went through the biggest changes of any clubs in the league during the summer, come together in New York Sunday.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

One Year Ago Today—Bob Olin won the world light-heavyweight title from Maxie Rosenbloom in a 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Five Years Ago Today—Two of the greatest football players ever to grace a college gridiron faced each other as professionals as Red Grange's Chicago Bears beat Benny Friedman's New York Giants 12-0 in New York.

American Athletic Union named Ten Years Ago Today — The Jackson V. Sholz of the New York A. C., holder of the world 100-yard dash record, officially establishing his time as 8.5 seconds.

Farmer Is Fined $100 For Having Illicit Liquor

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 15. — (AP) — Convicted of possession of illicit liquor, Elmer Adkins, Charleston, Ill., farmer, said today he would pay most of the $100 fine assessed by Federal Judge Fred L. Wham with a $90 AAA corn-check from the government.

Adkins, arrested by federal agents who said they found a keg of liquor floating down a river through his farm, was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day and ordered to pay a $100 fine within 60 days.

Missourian Takes Mid-South Golfing Crown; Gains $250

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 16. — (AP) — Orville White of Overland, Mo., today the mid-south open golf tournament by carding a 74 to go with the 70 which established him as the leader of the first round of the 36-hole test.

His aggregate of 144 was three strokes better than the second man, Willie Klein, of Long Island, who followed his 72 of the opening round with a 75.

First place was worth $250 to White. Klein's share was $200.

TRAFFIC SAFETY CONTINUANCE IS URGED BY F. D. R.

Chicago, Nov. 16. — (AP) — President Roosevelt in a message to the American Automobile Association convention yesterday urged an intensive and continued campaign for highway safety.

"Our people must realize once and for all that freedom to use the streets and highways carries with it important responsibilities and obligations," he said in his message.

The president wrote that federal and state government investments in good roads were largely nullified unless a proper degree of safety were assured.

The message added: "The country is perhaps more conscious than ever before of the extent of the tragedy resulting from highway fatalities and injuries. Both from the humanitarian and economic aspect, I regard this as one of the most serious problems confronting us."

"Mindful of the part your organization has had in the battle for greater safety, I can think of no way in which you can better serve the American people than through the continuation of your efforts to solve the problem through constructive legislation, adequate enforcement of laws and regulations, and continuing education of drivers and pedestrians, young and old."

Aged Physician At Reformatory Dies At Pontiac

Chicago, Nov. 15. — (AP) — Dr. James A. Marshall, 74, for 35 years head physician of the state reformatory at Pontiac, Ill., died in Passavant hospital today. Dr. Marshall underwent an operation Nov. 4. (He had been suffering from cancer.)

He was a past president of the Illinois State Medical Society, and a former head of the Pontiac school board. He retired as head physician at the reformatory several years ago. Burial services will be held in Pontiac Sunday.

MANY YEARS OF LOW RATES FOR INVESTMENTS

Cincinnati, Nov. 16. — (AP) — The opinion that comparatively low rates of return on investments "are in prospect for many years to come" was expressed today by John H. Fahey, chairman of the Home Loan Bank board.

Addressing the United States Building and Loan League, Fahey said the Home Loan Bank System is making money available to members at 3 per cent and added that there are some "who are disturbed" by this.

"They fear," he continued, "that as a result borrowers will demand lower charges on home mortgages. But lower rates on such mortgages are already here and are being made effective rapidly in most sections of the country."

"More competition for sound mortgages is developing every day. Rates on such mortgages will of course be influenced by local conditions, but generally speaking our credit and monetary resources are such that comparatively low rates of return on money and investments are in prospect for many years to come."

The speaker asked where securities could be found which could be depended upon to yield 5 to 5½ per cent "and which compare in safety with the sound home mortgage."

WHAT THE NEWS WAS AROUND DIXON IN YEARS GONE BY

50 YEARS AGO.

M. P. Harris has been appointed postmaster at Lee in place of W. H. Bryant. Henry B. Vandercize in place of D. Sanford at Ashton and Mrs. Mattie Briggs, vice D. A. Donichy at Nelson. Republican postmasters fall in the fall this fall as the leaves fall.

At a special meeting of the Home Company held last evening, a resolution was passed to loan the city $60 to pay for labor done on the city building. There were two aldermen present who agreed to go security for the city. This is a new departure and one which if followed up may be the means of making an alderman of some practical benefit to the community.

25 YEARS AGO.

Howard Martin of Gap Grove fell from a wagon load of potatoes here yesterday and fractured his collar bone.

Daniel Buhler, aged 88, passed away last evening at the home of his son Frank, in Palmyra township.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Wilbur F. Chiverton and Miss May Kelley, both of Dixon.

10 YEARS AGO.

An aged transient was killed at noon today by a fast west bound Northwestern passenger train about two miles west of Ashton.

The football squad of the Dixon high school and their coaches will be the guests of the Dixon Kiwanis club at the banquet Tuesday.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.—Psalm 7:11.

If the wicked flourish and thou suffer, be not discouraged; they are fattened for destruction, thou art dieted for health.—Psalter.

GET THERE WITH SAME OLD PUNT, PASS, PRAYER

Booming punts from the toe of Cedric Sweet are essential in Michigan's style of football, and have helped the Wolverines stage a comeback in the Big Ten.

Injuries kept Capt. Bill Renner, quarterback and ace passer, out of the Michigan lineup last fall, but he's directing the Maize and Blue and flipping forwards with the finesse of a Benny Friedman or Harry Newman this season. Renner kicks, too, and is by far the most important athlete on the roster.

Matt Pataneim, left end, is on the receiving end of many Michigan passes. But that is only one of the numerous accomplishments of this Elkhart, Ind., lad.

OHIO STATE TO RISK TITLE IN ILLINI GAME

Canny Zuppke "Too Cheerful" To The Buckeye Fans

Columbus, O., Nov. 16—(AP)—Ohio State's hopes for a share of the Big Ten football title hung in the balance today as the Bucks clash with the fast but light Illini eleven. The Ohioans had a decided edge in weight, but they had the same advantage a year ago when the Illini dropped them from the championship chase, 14 to 13.

Coach Bob Zuppke of the invaders declared his squad was riddled by injuries, that he had practically no idea what his starting lineup would be and that he hoped Ohio could be held to a lower score than the 85 to 7 total it rolled up against Drake. The canny Dutchman grinned as he spoke, however. A crowd of about 60,000 was expected for the contest, the 24th in a series between the teams.

Gophers Bring Jug Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16—Minnesota brought the "Little Brown Jug" back home today, but the powerful, unbeaten Gopher eleven was favored to win over Michigan and take it away again. The Gophers vanquished the Wolverines last year for the first time since 1927 and stood today among the few unbeaten teams.

Coach Harry Kipke's squad, working behind locked gates all week, had instructions to "hold back nothing," however, and was bent on regaining possession of the traditional trophy.

Are November Teams Evanston, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Wisconsin and Northwestern, a couple of November football teams just reaching their peaks, were matched today at Dwyer Stadium. Both accounted for upsets last week, the Wildcats in conquering Notre Dame, and Wisconsin defeating Purdue, and the prospective attendance of 25,000 was pretty certain of seeing a real battle, starting at 2 P. M.

Engage Purdue Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 16—(AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes, defeated this season only by Minnesota, engaged Purdue in a Big Ten football game today. The Boilermakers, seeking to hit the comeback trail after three defeats, were primed to stop the long runs of the elusive Negro, Oze Simmons, and the plunges of Dick Crayne. The game was scheduled for 2 P. M.

Berwanger's Last Game Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Jay Berwanger, Chicago's candidate for All-America football honors, came up to his final appearance on Stagg field today as the Maroons squared off against Indiana's Hoosiers.

The "Flying Dutchman," injured in the Ohio State game last week, was not expected to start, but was certain of being in there a big share of the time. As the Hoosiers saw a chance of racking up their first Big Ten victory of the season. The kickoff was set for 2 P. M.

Irish Meet Army Again New York, Nov. 16—(AP)—Army and Notre Dame, their gridiron glory little diminished by their defeats, clashed today for the 22nd time since an unheralded little team came out of the West in 1913 and whipped the mighty Cadets.

The series, founded on the upset engineered by Knute Rockne and Charles (Gus) Dorais, has grown into one of the biggest affairs in football. Despite a forecast of rain, every one of the 80,000 seats in the Yankee Stadium was expected to be filled at the kickoff. Every ticket was sold weeks ago. The consensus of the customers favored Notre Dame. The Irish have lost only to Northwestern—a defeat which might be attributed to the combination of injuries and the letdown after a sensational triumph over Ohio State. Army was tumbled by Mississippi State, then soundly thumped by Pittsburgh.

40,000 See North Carolina Durham, N. C., Nov. 16—(AP)—North Carolina's Tar Heels, the South's only unbeaten, untied football team, faced their crucial battle today in opposing Duke University's Blue Devils before 40,000 fans—the largest Southern crowd this year.

Hunt Spread Far for Mail Bandits

Six bandits who staged a wild west train holdup at the Garrettsville, O., station of the Erie railway, shown in top picture, were the targets of a widespread hunt as they fled with their loot of $34,500 in cash and $12,450 in securities. With a pistol held against her, Mrs. W. L. Scott, shown center below telling her story to Highway Patrolman H. W. Sowers, left, was forced to line up with 20 others as she handed a letter to the mail car clerk. Robbers forced Earl N. Davis, right, to help carry the booty to their car.

STATE HOSPITAL

Patients at the Dixon State Hospital presented a play recital at the amusement hall of the institution Friday evening in four episodes.

The recital was presented under the auspices of the State Hospital recreational department. The first episode "Belling the Cat" was a musical playlet, the second, "The Hitting Post" was a mock wedding, "Jake and His Family" was the third episode, a skit and the fourth and last episode was "Oh Doctor" a bargain cure, written and directed by Ellen Brooks. The Dixon State Hospital band furnished the music.

NOVEMBER BUSINESS IS GOOD

Cold Weather Aids Buying Survey Proves Today

New York, Nov. 16—(AP)—Statistical that colder weather was an impetus to buying, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in its survey issued today said, "the most satisfactory progress thus far this month was recorded for many trade branches during the week."

"Although reliance was placed, to some extent, on markdown offerings and special promotional events to achieve the larger volume," the review said, "retail distribution advanced 5 to 12 per cent from the total of the week preceding."

"The strong rise in sales a year ago, however, held the average gain over the 1934 comparative to an estimated range of 8 to 15 per cent."

"There was a moderate expansion in wholesale buying, volume in most branches exceeding that of the week preceding."

"The chief increase was in mail orders, although fresh commitments made a satisfactory showing, despite the reduced number of buyers in the principal markets."

POETS' CORNER

ODE TO ROCK RIVER, "THE HUDSON OF THE WEST"

From the land of lakes to northward,
 Southward, westward, winding ever
 In and out the tiny islands;
 Great in placid, brooding beauty,
 Deep in Nature's bosom sheltered,
 Flows the deep and shining river,
 Telling tales of oak and elm tree
 Of a land once virgin woodland,
 Sometimes speaking low, in whispers,
 Then in angry voice protesting
 Loudly to the weeping willows,
 As it seeks its destination.

On its shores once roamed the red-men,
 Roamed the Blackfeet, brave and bold,
 With great Blackhawk as their chieftain,
 Lost to white men their stronghold.
 Let your spirit, oh great Blackhawk,
 Walk beside me along its shores,
 Speak today the white man's language,
 Tell the tales of Indian lore.
 Now the reds and golds of autumn
 Glow with tender memories sweet,
 Hung with mist, the dewdrops glisten
 Like man years, oh lost Blackfeet.

Canoe with me, oh mighty Blackhawk,
 Down the silent, brooding stream;
 See again the hand of Nature
 How it bends to Father Time;
 See the valleys in the distance,
 Now the bluffs on either side,
 Margaret Fuller Island looming,
 As she beckons far and wide.
 Stop at Ganymedes, oh chieftain,
 Quench your thirst now—as of old;
 The Gods have sent to us their nectar,
 Ever sparkling, pure and cold.
 Wander with me red skin brother,
 Take my hand, we'll climb the trail
 Toward the rocky, craggy summit
 Where once pierced the eagle's wing.

Here your statue gleams in splendor.

or,
 It now surveys with lordly mien
 The land where ghosts of loyal red-men
 Worship at your burnished shrine.
 Strain your eyes, oh mighty chieftain,
 Let your gaze fall far and wide
 O'er the land where roamed your people
 Before the white man's pushing stride.

The sun shoots flaming darts of fire
 Through the skies of iridescent hues
 Upon the wide and glistening river
 In portrayed beauty, far below.
 Still your angry voice, great warrior,
 We'll pass the pipe, your grief allay,
 While the river sings the redmen's legend
 To the tuneful lapping of the waves.
 Through Manitou's own vast cathedral
 Through town and hamlet wends its way.

ALL POLITICAL RIGHTS LOST TO GERMAN JEWRY

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, Nov. 16—(AP)—All political rights were taken from Jews in Germany yesterday by an official decree, defining closely the citizenship and racial laws promulgated by the Reichstag at its Nurnberg session during the September convention of the Nazi party.

"The Jew cannot be a Reichs citizen, cannot vote or occupy public office," ruled the decree, published in the official gazette.

"Jewish functionaries of the government will be pensioned Dec. 31, 1935."

Another decree dealing with the new blood honor laws, forbade marriages between Jews and "quarter Jews," or between "quarter Jews" themselves.

Aryan domestic servants may remain in the service of Jews, the decree provided, if they are 35 years of age or over.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN delays her answer when BOBBY WALLACE asks her to marry him. At The Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARRISON whose business connection she learns about the hood transaction and questions BOBBY. LARRY believes the car Lewis brought is armored. BOBBY undertakes to find out.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent, is trailing WINGY LEWIS, bank robber. He learns about the hood transaction and questions BOBBY. LARRY believes the car Lewis brought is armored. BOBBY undertakes to find out.

JEAN agrees to a secret engagement with SANDY. The bank of which her father is president is robbed, and LARRY starts a search for the robbers.

JEAN goes to see SANDY who has been injured. He and the Lewises are staying at a farm house. She soon finds herself a prisoner. The whole party leaves the farm. They stop at a deserted old house and Jean tries to escape. A car stops.

Meanwhile LARRY has discovered Jean is with the robbers. His men continue the search.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

WHEN Larry Glenn arrived in Portmouth he went at once to police headquarters, where he found Detective Sergeant Mike Hagan talking with a broad-shouldered, swarthy chap whom he introduced as Sergeant Doyle, of the Portmouth force.

"Tell us the story again," said Mike.

So Larry outlined the situation in detail, telling how the Jackson gangsters had been traced to the Engle farm, outside of Middletown, and how a mysterious telephone call had announced that they were going to French Pete's.

"Have you any kind of a notion where or what French Pete's might be?" asked Larry.

Doyle slowly shook his head. "I wouldn't say I never heard the name," he said. "It sounds sort of familiar, somehow. . . . But I'll be hanged if I can place it."

"There's just a chance," said Larry, "that we might get a lead from Washington. Before we left Dover I called the Division of Investigation and asked them to see if they had anything on it. They're to call me here, tonight, if they have. But it's a slim chance—awfully slim."

They fell silent for a time; then the plain-clothes men who had been sent to the bus station from which the call had been made came in to report that a careful check there had failed to disclose any information whatever about the fugitives.

"I didn't expect it would," said Larry glumly.

The desk telephone buzzer sounded, and Doyle answered. He held the receiver up to Larry with the remark, "For you—Washington."

Larry took the phone and held a monosyllabic conversation. At last he hung up and turned to Doyle and Hagan.

"Well, for what it's worth—which isn't much—here's all the Washington files have got," he said. "They've checked their list of gangster aliases and they have one French Pete listed. He was a booze racketeer, back in prohibition days. Used to run whiskey from Detroit down through the middle-west. Both Portmouth and Dover were on his route, apparently."

"But he was shot to death by rival gangsters back in 1928." So that's that.

MIKE HAGAN suddenly banged the desk with his fist. "Hey—remember, now," he said. "That guy—listen, Larry, maybe there's a lead in this, after all. Back about 1925 he was pulled in for murdering a village marshal who stopped his truck in some little town between here and Dover. And Don Montague, of Dover, was his lawyer."

Doyle's face lit up with eagerness. "Sure, I remember, too," he said. He paused, frowning in his effort to remember.

"I got it," he said at last. "This fellow French Pete—his real name was Rubidoux. He used to have a sort of resort on a little lake, over in Lycoming county, before he got into the booze-running racket. Anyhow, he'd held onto it, and the talk was that Montague made him sign it over to him as part of his fee."

"Where is it?" asked Larry quickly.

"I never knew, exactly," said Doyle. "I bet old Tom Thornton would know, though. He's been on the force for 25 years, and he never forgot anything in his life."

He opened a door into another room and bawled, "Hey, Thornton—come in here a second, will you?"

A gray-haired, mild-looking detective came in and faced them inquiringly.

"Remember that bird Rubidoux, who used to have some sort of a resort on a little lake over in Lycoming?" asked Doyle.

Thornton nodded. "Where was it, exactly?" asked Larry.

"Well," said Thornton, "it used to be the country home of some rich man from Dover. Later it was a sort of country club. Then Rubidoux got it. Anyhow, it's tucked away off in the woods, about three or four miles north of the main highway—U. S. 129—around 10 miles east of here, or such a matter."

"Could you take us to it?" asked Larry.

Thornton pondered, then nodded. "I think I could," he said.

Larry got up. "Then let's go," he said. "It may be a bum steer—but it's all the steer we've got. Take me in and let me talk to your chief, will you?"

Thornton nodded.

So Larry went in to talk with the Portmouth chief of police, while Tony LaRocco, at his instruction, hurried to telephone the Lycoming county sheriff; and both of these officials promised full cooperation, to the extent of their ability.

An hour later three police cars drew to a halt at the concrete bridge that marked the county line. In them were Larry Glenn, three other federal agents, Mike Hagan, and the Portmouth chief of police with half a dozen of his best men—all heavily armed. Beyond the bridge waited another car, with the Lycoming county sheriff and four deputies carrying riot guns. The cars stopped and Larry and the Portmouth chief held a brief consultation with the sheriff; then they all started off again.

Twice they made wrong turnings. As Thornton said, some of the roads in this part of the county had been re-located in recent years; once they followed an execrable road that petered out, at last, in somebody's farm yard, and a little later they found themselves pulling up in front of a deserted country school house.

But at last Thornton held up his hand as a signal at a crossroad, and confidently told the driver to turn to the left.

They proceeded along the dirt road in the direction the detective had indicated. It was dark, now, and their lamps cast long beams of light down the peaceful roadway ahead of them; and the glare suddenly reminded Larry that there was no sense in making their arrival too conspicuous.

At his direction, therefore, they drove past the place where the lane branched off, and parked their cars out of sight around a bend in the road. Then, grouped about the leading car, Larry laid out a plan of attack with the sheriff and the Portmouth chief.

AS a result, Tony LaRocco, Thornton and Doyle crept off through the woods; and five minutes later one of the Lycoming county deputies got one of the cars, turned it around, and drove slowly for the mouth of the lane that led to French Pete's place. Reaching the fork, he turned down the lane with his lights on, and slowly followed it. The rest of the party followed on foot, 50 yards behind him.

The car had gone perhaps a quarter of a mile from the road when a man suddenly appeared in the light of its lamps. He stood in the middle of the road, an automatic shotgun in his hands. The deputy slowed to a halt.

"Where you goin', buddy?" asked the man with the gun. The deputy put his head out of the window and said, innocently, "Why—Isn't this the road to Middletown?"

"The man with the gun looked at him scornfully.

"You ought to know it ain't," he said. "This is private grounds. You'll have to go back to the main road."

The deputy, instructed to stall for time, began to make some protest, and the guard came up toward him, gripping his gun menacingly; then, out of the darkness of the woods, came a curt, "Put 'em up, buddy—you're covered!"

The man with the gun faltered back a step, and into the light of the auto's lamps came LaRocco, Thornton and Doyle, leveling revolvers at him. He cursed softly, and hesitantly elevated his hands, still holding the shotgun. LaRocco stepped forward and took it away from him. The man was quickly frisked and relieved of a 32 automatic and a blackjack. Then he was dumped into the rear of the sedan and handcuffed with his arms about one of the rear window stanchions.

The rest of the party came up, and Larry and the sheriff fired questions at the captive. He cursed and refused to answer; so they left him there, with two deputies to guard him—and as they so they parked in such a way as to prevent any other car from passing along the lane.

Then the officers started on down the lane again, on foot.

"They're here, all right," said Larry softly. "We'll just go on down and surround the place, and then invite 'em to come on out. Be ready for some shooting, all of you!"

FRANKLIN GROVE

BY GRACE PEARL

Franklin Grove—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson and Mrs. Edgar Gooch of Sac City, Iowa and John Henry Edgington of Mapleton, Iowa were Thursday and Friday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gross.

Norman Tompkins left Monday morning for Kenosha, Wisconsin where he has secured employment with a paper concern. Norman is a good clean young man and will no doubt make good. His many friends are wishing him success with his new line of work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin of Chicago were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Miller. Mrs. Edwin will be remembered as Miss Lucille Morris.

Little Carol Kness of Chadwick visited from Wednesday until Friday at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Selma Fruit.

The Truth Seekers class of the Church of the Brethren Sunday school enjoyed their monthly meeting and class party Thursday night at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Ruth Hussey.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Senger left on Thursday for Elgin where they will visit until Sunday in the home of his nephew, Ray Senger and family. Sunday they will go to Chicago for a few days visit with Mrs. Mary Shippert and her daughter, Dr. Mary Shippert, and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ives moved their furniture back into their home Thursday. The work on the house being completed Wednesday. It will be remembered that they were forced to vacate on account of a fire in their house.

The Pri Si Class of the Methodist Sunday school have been working very hard in the west room of the basement making it into a living room. They have had quite a little furniture either loaned or given to them. The room surely is a fine idea. They hope in the future to have their class party in the room. They are in need of some drapes, cushion covers, in fact they can use most any thing that is useable in making a sitting room homey. The class will appreciate anything you may have. If you have any article call Mrs. Roy Shoemaker. Mrs. Harry Kint or Miss Ethel Sheap and they will call at your house for the same.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Canfield, north of town passed away Wednesday morning. Arnold is a former resident of this community, graduated from the high school and has many friends who will extend sincere sympathy to him and his wife in this sad hour.

Mrs. Frank Hatch and Mrs. Orville Maronde were called to Dixon Wednesday afternoon by the serious illness of their brother, George Johnson. He is suffering from throat trouble. "Bud" as he is better known to all, has lived all his life until a few years ago when he moved to Dixon. His friends will hope with him for a speedy recovery.

Clifford Tompkins has purchased the George Hawbecker residence in which he lives. Consideration was $880.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haenisch and son Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haenisch, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Willard were Tuesday evening supper guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Paul B. Studebaker.

Miss Elva Sunday was out from Chicago over the week end at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday. Her grandmother, Mrs. Clara D. Smith has not been as well the last few days as her many friends would wish.

The Kilo Club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grace Stultz. Roll call, Thanksgiving quotations.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gross were Rockford visitors Tuesday morning. Reading "Women's Ways in Politics. This is my Native Land." Leader, Maude Hussey.

Abram Gilbert planned and most successfully carried out a surprise for his wife Wednesday evening. Mrs. Gilbert had celebrated her birthday anniversary on Monday. But owing to other entertainments the real surprise came Wednesday evening. Those present were: Supt. and Mrs. Leland Hanson, Prof. and Mrs. Cozzens, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Brecunier, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shoemaker. The evening was spent in playing 500 at which LeRoy Miller and Mrs. Shoemaker won high score. Mr. Hanson and Mrs. Cozzens, low. We join with a large circle of friends in extending best wishes for many more happy birthday anniversaries. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Geeting and two small sons are again residing in the late Mrs. Wm. Crawford place. They expect to remain here until spring and then go to Montana to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oltman and family of Rock Falls were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schaffer, south of town.

Miss Frances Kelley spent from Friday until Monday in the home of her sister, Mrs. George Knouse.

Orville Brindle came home Tuesday from Idaho, where he spent the past few weeks picking apples with Wm. Dickey in the Council Valley locality, which was so well-known in this place some years ago, when the orchard tracts were being sold. A great many bushels of fruit were caught on the trees by the frost, which made the season the coldest for over sixty years. However the crop was bountiful and of very good quality. The Valley grows apples, pears, peaches, plums and other fruits helped by irrigation. Orville has gone to the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Brindle near Oregon for a few days.

Mrs. Isabelle Jewett and two daughters plan to leave Sunday for Miami, Florida, for a few months. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schaffer attended the dance and card party in connection with the Rock Falls high school homecoming Saturday evening in the Rock Falls high school gym.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford and family of Dixon visited Sunday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Agnes Sunday. Frank who has been employed by the I. N. U. Company for years, making business trips to Chicago frequently, is still employed by that company, but has been transferred to Idaho. He left the first of the week for the new location. His wife and family will remain in Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schaffer, south of town entertained with an oyster supper Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lytens, Misses Beth Cornell and Helen Duvall of Rock Falls.

Mayor and Mrs. George L. Spangler, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Moore, Winn Wasson and son Virgil, Miss Bertha Zoeller and brother Donald attended the funeral of C. C. Rorick in Dixon Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sawine, Miss Charlotte Brown and Mr. Clark of Dixon were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Brecunier, north of town.

Mrs. Schmidt entertained the members of Circle No. 3 of the Methodist Aid society at her home Thursday afternoon. Lovely refreshments were enjoyed.

Negro Musical Drama
"Inchin' Along", a musical drama played by the Cotton Blossom Singers of the Piney Woods school, of Piney Woods, Miss., will be presented in Lincoln Hall next Wednesday evening November 20th, at 7:30 o'clock, under the sponsorship of the Christian Endeavor society of Presbyterian church. A small admission fee will be charged.

This play which combines the historic, musical and dramatic elements of negro life in the southland is intensely interesting. And the singing as only colored people can sing. Twenty-three songs and old time spirituals will be used in this play. There are six negroes and one colored lady in this play.

Piney Woods School is an undenominational educational institution, thoroughly Christian, doing a marvelous work in educating over three hundred students year after year to meet their immediate needs and problems in the southland. The school is operated on the self help plan in which students work part time and study part time. The school now has some thirty teachers to aid in the instruction of the two hundred dormitory pupils and one hundred day pupils.

The people of this community have the privilege to hear one of the cleanest and most entertaining plays that has ever come to this place.

The "Cotton Blossom Singers" are not strangers to this community. Several years ago they were here and gave an entertainment on the camp grounds which was fine. A number of people of this community have also contributed money and clothing to this school.

Rev. P. J. Keller says concerning the showing of this picture: "Our church was filled to its capacity. Over 900 people were present. It was a true Biblical presentation of the life and passion of our Savior and well received."

Methodist Church Notes
Ever since the change in time of our Sunday school from 9 o'clock until 10, our school has been growing some. That is fine, but are we satisfied? I think there would be a unanimous "no!" Then let's go on.

Our morning worship is at 11 o'clock every Sunday morning. We thank God for the privilege of looking into radiant faces instead of empty pews. If everyone on rising next Sunday would sincerely ask "What would Jesus do this day?" and then endeavor to follow in His steps, the victory would be won.

You will not want to forget this newly organized Bible study class which meets at the church Monday evening, November 18th. Everybody is invited.—L. E. Winter, minister.

Brethren Church Notes
We are earnestly inviting all to attend the play this Sunday evening, "The Eleventh Mayor" presented by a cast of well-trained players. The cast appeared in this column Wednesday evening.

The play will start at 8:00 P. M. giving those who attend other churches an opportunity to come following their own services. The members and friends are responding splendidly to the Loyalty Month campaign. The auditorium was well-filled last Sunday morning.

Next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock the mid-week Bible Study and Prayer Service will be resumed. This was a very helpful service last winter. We are sure it will be again this winter.

Sunday school at 9:30. Worship and sermon at 10:30. B. Y. P. D. and Adult C. W. at 7:00.

Play, "The Eleventh Mayor" at 8:00.—Paul B. Studebaker, pastor.

Scout Drive Fund
This community contributed to Boy Scout work in the Blackhawk area for the coming year and it has reached a total of $71.65 in cash it was announced Tuesday evening. The drive opened on Tuesday morning.

Twenty-six participated actively in the drive on the opening morning. Those who have not contributed and wish to do so are urged to see anyone of the solicitors. The Franklin Grove quota is $80 and the solicitors are anxious to reach the quota and close the drive. Tuesday evening the solicitors were guests of the officers of the Blackhawk area to a spaghetti supper in the basement of the Methodist church. The solicitors are loud in their praise of the very courteous treatment they received at the various homes they visited and are extremely grateful to all who contributed. The Boy Scout movement is one of the finest organizations for boys there are, and with the splendid Scoutmaster, Frank Senger, and his and Earl Fish and others who are always ready to assist the Boy Scout troop No. 110 is bound to be a success. A splendid place for any boy. It is hoped that more boys of the community will join the troop before spring.
